Scientists rediscover lost power of Tibetan monks

ANCIENT SPELL RAISES THE DEAD!

The scientific world has been rocked by news that an ancient ritual for reviving the dead has actually brought the corpse of a 45-year-old woman back to life.

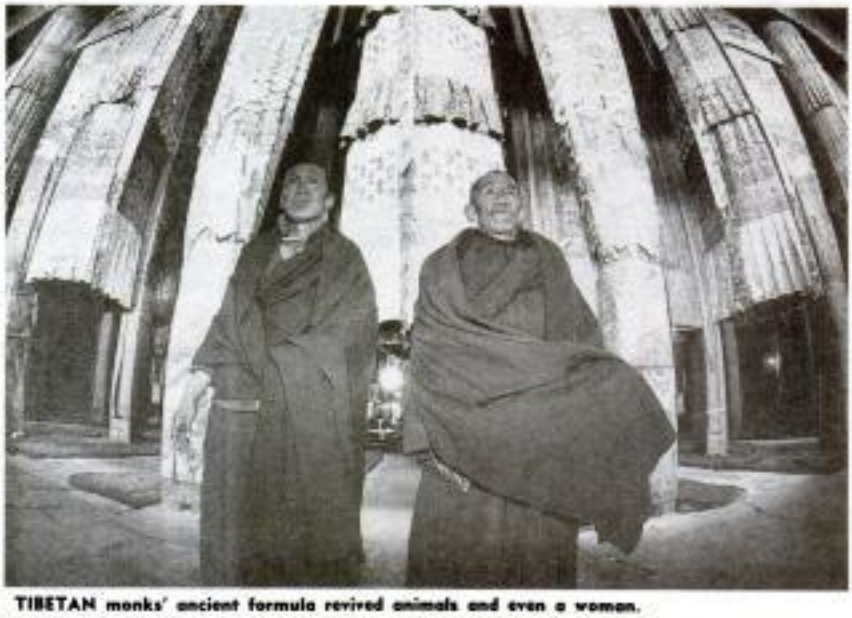
Researchers at North-West University in Sian, China, discovered the ancient technique in the yellowed pages of a Tibetan manuscript confiscated from a mountain monastery by soldiers of the People's Republic of China in 1968.

The formula uses a spell or charm and can revive the dead nearly 72 hours after the heart has stopped, according to a preliminary news account published by the official Chinese press agency Xinhua.

The account quoted Professor Ni Chung, head of a team of medical researchers looking into modern uses for primitive folk remedies, as having made the discovery and "watched, fascinated, as the spell had the miraculous effect of restoring life to the cold body of a 45-year-old mother of two who died of a heart infection."

By NICK McVICKER

MANUSCRIPT has secrets from 14 centuries ago.



TIBETAN monks' ancient formula revived animals and even a woman.

The researchers have tested the 14-century-old formula on dogs, cats and other animals but this was the first time it was tried on a human corpse, the account said.

The woman lived for only 37 minutes and did not speak, the report said.

"Before uttering the spell, Tibetan monks used to rub the body with ointment concocted from rare herbs and powdered roots," Dr. Chung reported.

"We duplicated the process, using the same ingredients, then used the incantations recommended by the ancient book.

"The effects were extraordinary. The body began to warm almost immediately and color returned to pale tissue. After 40 minutes or so, a heartbeat could be detected and minutes later the pulse could be felt elsewhere.

"The subject lived for just over half an hour."

Dr. Chung and his colleagues previously found the ancient chants and ointments worked best with two cats that had died of infections.

"We believe the spell and ointments may have the effect of leaching poisons from the body, restoring tissues that had been damaged by disease to health again," Dr. Chung said.

"Without exception, animals originally killed by disease thrived after revival. The animals are still living and in good condition. We didn't know why the woman did not survive longer than she did.

"We are now requesting permission to test the formula on three other human beings."

Western scientists have responded to news of the amazing discovery with cautious interest and a great deal of skepticism.

Most say they will await more specific details on the miracle ointment and incantation before commenting on the find.

"It sounds pretty farfetched but it might be an extraordinary medical breakthrough," said one expert, Dr. Hans Mitternaugh of Hamburg, West Germany.

"We'll need to see much more data before we know."

Wife flattens hubby — over noisy cycle

An irate wife thought her hubby's motorcycle was too noisy so she ran it over — with him on it!

Katherine Keegan Glock came upon her husband at an intersection in St. Petersburg, Fla., and told him she would run over him unless he turned off the engine of his motorcycle, according to police. When he refused, she began hollering at him and then ran over the motorcycle three times with her car, said cops. Fortunately, her husband did not suffer any major injuries.

Mrs. Glock, 36, was arrested and charged with attempted homicide.

Dr. Joe Kramer received a sweet treat for his many years of community service in New York City — 1,000 pints of ice milk.

Dr. Kramer immediately invited children from his poverty- and drug-plagued neighborhood to a block party and shared his prize.

The eager youngsters feasted on chocolate chunk, coffee almond fudge and sweet cream and cookies ice milk donated by the manufacturer.

WOMAN WILLS $500G

KATERINA Clement's best and only friend — her houseplant — gets to spend the rest of its days in this lavish room on a satin-draped pedestal.

. . . TO A HOUSEPLANT

Katerina Clement

Gal hired at $48G salary to water & serenade it daily for the rest of its life

By TERRY KEENE

Rich Katerina Clement willed a whopping $500,000 to a houseplant in what legal experts are calling the most amazing inheritance story ever!

Documents on file in Geneva, Switzerland, describe the jade plant as having been the 79-year-old woman's "best and only friend" for the last five years of her life and stipulate that it remain on a satin-draped pedestal until it dies as well.

The papers also call for Patrice Mattle to receive $48,000 a year to care for the plant. Specifically, she must:

- Water and fertilize it,
- Make sure it comes to no harm,
- Play the song Edelweiss to it with her clarinet — eight times a day.

"People have left money to strangers. People have left money to dogs and cats," law professor Samuel Snider told reporters. "But I've talked with several of my colleagues and this is the first time we've ever heard of anybody leaving a fortune to a potted plant.

"The interest Mrs. Clement's money is earning could conceivably pay a caretaker's salary forever.

"If the plant dies I understand the fortune will be donated to scientists involved in botanical research."

PATRICE Mattle will get a whopping $48G per year to care for the pampered plant.

People who knew Mrs. Clement weren't the least bit surprised to learn that she had willed a fortune to her plant.

They said the elderly woman became increasingly reclusive and eccentric after the death of her husband in 1978. And in the months before she suffered a fatal heart attack, she shunned all human contact.

"She was one strange duck," said a neighbor who wished to remain anonymous. "Sometimes you could look through a window and see her stroking and singing to that plant."

Miss Mattle was hired to care for the plant by the executors of Mrs. Clement's estate. She says friends have joked about her new job "but I'm taking it as seriously as I can."

"I felt funny about it at first but now I'm getting used to it," said the woman. "In fact, I can see how Mrs. Clement got so close to the plant.

"When you spend all your time with it, when you care for it, talk to it, and play music to it, it becomes almost human.

"And it really is a beautiful plant."

WOMAN'S wacky will also stipulates that the plant-sitter play Edelweiss to it eight times daily — on her clarinet.

Here's why son punched out mom

Elmer Gruber had a unique way of slowing his elderly mother down when she ate too fast — he would double up his fist and punch her in the face.

Gruber, 58, admitted in court he would "flick her on the cheek" to slow down his 75-year-old mom because he was afraid she would choke to death.

His aged mother, Leona Gruber, is now in a nursing home in Loraine, Ohio. Her son faces up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine for his conviction on domestic violence.

Fat lady has to pay $26,000 for belly flop onto skinny swimmer!

By LAUREL BOWIE
Correspondent

Thundering, 310-pound porker Margo Amado was ordered to pay $26,000 in damages after she did a belly flop off a hotel high-dive board — and knocked skinny swimmer Pedro Porras out like a light!

The Spanish judge who awarded the damages also directed meaty Margo never to dive into a public pool again.

"It's not safe for you and it's not safe for any poor soul who gets in your way," scolded flabbergasted Judge Fernando Barragan.

The side-splitting case landed in court after puny Pedro filed a whopping $1 million lawsuit against the belly-flopping blimp — claiming she uses her bountiful body as a lethal weapon.

"That woman is crazy," fumed the scrawny salesman. "She's a menace to society and she should be locked up somewhere.

"That wasn't the first time she'd left me black and blue. But that time she would have killed me if some kind people hadn't pulled me from the pool.

"They ought to make her get a license just to go out in public with a body like that."

Pint-size Pedro, 43, said he'd locked horns with the jellybelly every time he checked into the hotel where she served cocktails.

"With my route, I ended up staying at the inn about once a month — and that woman knocked me around every single time," the 113-pound after-shave salesman told reporters in Barcelona. "I'd sit in the lounge and she'd waddle over and spill a drink in my lap or bop me on the side of my head with her tray.

"A couple of times I got up to use the bathroom and she walked right into me and knocked me flat."

But unsuspecting Pedro nearly met his Maker the night he went for a late-night dip in the hotel pool — and suddenly spotted the wide-bodied waitress peering down at him from the high-dive board.

"I guess it was Margo's night off because she was obviously drunk as a skunk," the bony bachelor recalled. "In her swimsuit she looked like an overstuffed tamale and I couldn't help laughing at her.

"She cussed me and the next thing I knew she was setting herself to dive right at me.

"I begged her not to come down on me, but she yelled, 'I'm going to get you, creep!' And suddenly here she came, like a flying whale. That's when my life passed before my eyes."

Two men who witnessed the horrifying collision from their hotel room raced outside and pulled cold-cocked Pedro from the water as massive Margo waddled away in a huff.

"She broke my nose and nearly killed me," the indignant little salesman said.

"A woman like that shouldn't be allowed to run loose."

Fed-up N.Y. teens wage war on drugs

Crack dealers in New York City have more than just the cops to worry about these days — they've become the target of outraged kids who don't want them in their neighborhoods!

Kids who have seen how crack can destroy lives are rejecting drugs and are ganging up on users and pushers to drive them off their streets.

"They'll do anything to get money for crack," one 12-year-old Brooklyn boy explained. "They're like fiends. We don't want them on our block."

SHE'S 67 & PREGNANT!

Iowa retiree is the oldest mother-to-be on record!

Retired schoolteacher Rosemary Manfridi is pregnant at the age of 67. And if the woman carries the baby to term and gives birth in October as expected, she'll become the oldest woman on record to give birth.

"I'm just as surprised as everybody else. I certainly wasn't trying to get pregnant," said the woman from central Iowa. "My husband and I dearly wanted children when we were younger but it just wasn't meant to be," she added. "Now this happens and it makes you wonder what could God's plan possibly be?"

By SALLY DUKE

Mrs. Manfridi and her husband Nicholas, 69, found out she was pregnant after she missed her period and consulted a doctor on February 23.

She said the physician initially thought she was at long last entering menopause. But she insisted that he perform a pregnancy test "because deep, down inside I had a feeling that I was with child.

"When the first test came back positive the doctor ran another one just to make sure," said Mrs. Manfridi. "When the results were confirmed all he could say was: 'My God, Rosemary, what are you and Nicholas going to do?'

"I looked at Nicholas and told him I couldn't live with myself if I had an abortion. He said: 'I want the baby, too.'

"The doctor told us that the pregnancy was high risk and said there is only a 50-50 chance that both the baby and me will survive," she continued.

"There is also a risk that the baby could be deformed or retarded but all the tests we've had so far show it to be normal. I'm in very good health myself. And I have a strong feeling that everything's going to turn out fine."

The woman's obstetrician reports but confirmed that she is seven months pregnant and has "a decent chance of having a healthy baby in mid to late October.

"She has a super attitude and a supportive husband and that can help more than you know," he said.

"Beyond that I will continue to monitor her health and condition very carefully and assess the risks week to week. We're breaking new ground here because nobody this old has gotten pregnant before.

"There are no previous cases in the medical texts to draw from. When you get down to it, we're on our own."

Like his wife and doctor, Mr. Manfridi is cautiously optimistic about the pregnancy and chance that he'll become a father at the age of 69.

"We aren't going into this blindly by any means," he said. "The risks are enormous and we know it. Even if Rosemary comes through the pregnancy and gives birth without complications, many of our problems will just be beginning.

"We're not spring chickens — we'll be in our 80s when the baby is a teen and may well pass on before he makes it to college. young couples and making arrangements for one of them to take custody of the child should Rosemary and I become disabled, senile or die.

"We're excited and frightened at the same time," he added.

Reports of pregnancies in older women are common but very few have ever been confirmed.

The Guinness Book of World Records says the oldest recorded mother who can be verified was Ruth Kistler, 57.

She gave birth to daughter Susan in Glendale, Calif., in 1956.

Only two-time Miss America dies — alone and forgotten

By CINDY O'NEIL
Staff writer

As dozens of young American beauties dream of winning the Miss America crown at Atlantic City, the only woman to ever win the title twice died, alone and forgotten, in a tiny San Francisco apartment.

Miss America 1922

Mary Katherine Campbell won the crown as a teenage Miss Columbus in 1922 and went on to repeat her feat the following year. But then, it was all downhill.

After winning the title for the second time in 1923, Mary Katherine turned down a Hollywood movie contract and a job with the Ziegfield Follies and returned to Ohio to care for her sick mother.

In the years that followed, Mary Katherine sacrificed herself again to look after her husband, who suffered from severe depression. Her time was spent in near seclusion with him in their two-bedroom apartment in San Francisco.

"My husband won't let me out of his sight," said Mary Katherine in 1982. "I can't go anywhere."

In 1922 the 15-year-old beauty's life could have taken a different course. She was watching a preliminary pageant in Columbus when a judge spotted her and suggested she enter the contest.

"I didn't think I was the least bit good-looking and I was so naive," she later recalled.

"When I was chosen Miss Columbus they said it was because of my figure. I didn't even know what a figure was and my mother told me it was none of my business."

At 5-foot-6 and 136 pounds, Mary Katherine's vital statistics were 35-26-36. The brown-eyed beauty with auburn hair and a peaches and cream complexion went on to win the Miss America pageant with her all-American image in 1922.

After claiming the coveted crown for the second time the next year, the compassionate beauty queen passed up her golden opportunities to rocket into stardom to become a lifelong care-giver.

Mary Katherine spent the last years of life secluded in her San Francisco apartment. Her food was delivered by Meals on Wheels.

The two-time Miss America died virtually unknown in June. Her final moment in the limelight faded with her walk down the Atlantic City, N.J., runway 67 years ago.

Couple splits — over $82!

Charles Wible, 76, walked out on wife, Mary, 70, because the Greensburg, Pa., pair had too much money — precisely $82.01 too much!

The elderly lovebirds were forced to end their eight-year marriage when cost-of-living increases hiked their combined Social Security benefits to $15,082.01. That's $82.01 more than married couples can earn and still qualify for prescription discounts in Pennsylvania.

Male stripper beaten up by gang of sex-crazed women!

'We didn't get our money's worth,' say disappointed gals

MACHO dancer wants his identity kept secret. "I won't be abused and made a fool of by a bunch of wild women," says Australian hunk.

A horde of man-hungry women roughed up a male stripper so badly he had to abandon his sexy routine after only a few minutes.

Now the gals are complaining to Consumer Affairs officials because the stripper, who was not identified, didn't give them their money's worth.

"We were just getting into his act when he went home in a snit," said Marybelle Hickman, 24, one of a party of 25 women who had hired the man for an engagement party.

According to authorities in Sydney, Australia, the women contacted an entertainment agency and asked for a male stripper to add some zip to their friend's celebration of her upcoming marriage. The agency sent a 29-year-old, 6-foot-2 blond male to gyrate in a G-string for the ladies.

The man said he started his act by letting the gals strip him — but they got so carried away they had him down to the buff after only 10 minutes of his 30-minute act.

"They ripped my shirt and my G-string," he told Consumer Affairs investigators.

"I kept telling them to calm down and watch instead of touch, but these women were ferocious. I tried to go on with my act stark naked, but that just seemed to make things worse."

The stripper said that as part of his act he picked up the guest of honor and tossed her into a plastic kiddie swimming pool. She got even minutes later by dumping the whole pool on his head.

"That was the last straw," he said. "I'll do a lot of things for the $134 I get as my fee, but I won't be abused and made a fool of by a bunch of rowdy women. They wanted more for their money than I was willing to give, that's for sure."

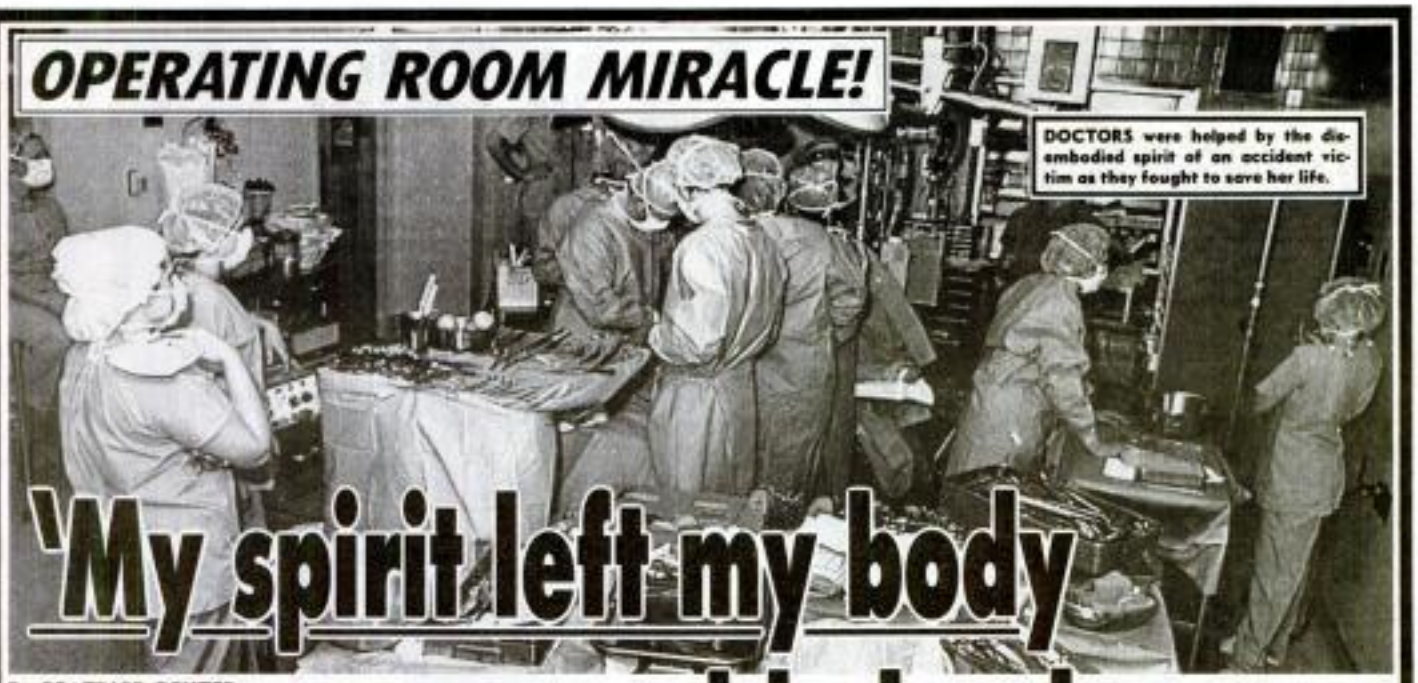
OPERATING ROOM MIRACLE!



DOCTORS were helped by the disembodied spirit of an accident victim as they fought to save her life.

'My spirit left my body and helped surgeons save my life!'

By BEATRICE DEXTER
In Amsterdam

An auto accident victim says her spirit hovered over her body during the desperate operation to save her life — and actually guided the hand of the surgeon!

Margarita Nomgard, 27, an emergency room nurse at a hospital in Breda, Holland, says she died as doctors in Amsterdam frantically tried to stem bleeding from massive internal injuries. Her soul left her body and watched what was happening in the operating room, she says, then swooped down to assist a surgeon who was stitching up a ruptured kidney.

"I remember thinking that he was missing a deep cut that was bleeding badly," said Margarita, who wrote an article on her experience for a local religious journal.

"I recall floating toward the operating table and coming closer to him, placing my hand on top of his and guiding it toward the hidden cut.

"Suddenly he said, 'Oh, here it is — here's the source of the bleeding.' At that point my spirit reentered my body and my next memory is waking up in the recovery room."

Margarita was horribly injured in a three car wreck in Amsterdam on July 17. But the young nurse believes God meant for her to survive her terrible injuries and that He sent her spirit to help the doctor. She says she recalls feeling a warm, loving presence nearby throughout her out-of-body experience and felt absolutely calm and at peace.

"I suddenly realized I was awake and looking down upon a team of surgeons and nurses. They seemed very upset, very concerned about their patient. In a flash, I knew the patient was me and that my soul had left my body.

"I remember feeling great love and pity for the poor people who were trying to revive my body. Then I knew that I was supposed to help them — and I did."

Doctors at the Amsterdam municipal hospital say Margarita, a married mother of two, did indeed die briefly on the operating table. They managed to revive her and she is now completely recovered from her injuries, they say.

Surgeon D.S. Ashari says his patient was hemorrhaging badly until he repaired a deep laceration in her right kidney.

"There certainly was a very dangerous moment during the procedure, no doubt about it," Dr. Ashari said. "At one point we lost her pulse. But once the hemorrhaging was stopped, she came right back. After that we had no more trouble during the surgery."

SOUL SURVIVOR: Margarita Nomgard says her spirit guided the surgeon's hand.

Hidden voice begs: 'Get me OUT of here — I'm burning up!'

CREMATION JOKE BACKFIRES

WIDOW Bertha Sudlander

. . . when dead man's grieving widow falls dead from shock

By BEATRICE DEXTER

A 53-year-old woman died of heart failure after a prankster hid behind the furnace where her husband was being cremated and shrieked: "Get me out of here, Bertha — I'm burning up!"

Grieving widow Bertha Sudlander rushed desperately toward the crematorium furnace door then dropped to the ground with cardiac arrest, according to a lawsuit filed by the dead woman's family.

"My mother had no idea it was just a joke," charged the Hannover, Germany, woman's daughter Inga Sudlander.

"My mother really thought Dad was inside the furnace pleading to get out. Now we're grieving the loss of both our parents — all because of a crematorium employee's stupidity."

According to court records, Bertha Sudlander went to the crematorium to witness the burning of Manfred Sudlander, 58, who wanted his wife and children to watch the cremation and then take the ashes to the family's small summer house for burial in the garden.

The widow stood watching her husband's corpse as it was shoved into the flaming furnace, then closed her eyes to pray. At that moment, shrieks came from the direction of the furnace.

"A man's voice was screaming, 'Help me, help me, Bertha. I'm burning up. Get me out of here,'" Miss Sudlander said in her deposition. "It was terrifying. We all thought dad was trapped in the furnace, begging to get out.

"My mother ran toward the furnace door and collapsed. She died in an instant, still trying to reach her husband. And then a crematorium worker came out from behind the furnace with a smile on his face."

Owners of the Peaceful Rest Funeral Home and Crematorium apologized for the tragedy, but Miss Sudlander, 23, says that's not enough.

"We want them to fire the worker who killed our mother," she said.

Here's one helluva tough cookie . . .

Butt-kicking gal sends five cops to hospital!

Brawling Anna Clyke resisted police so violently when they tried to arrest her — that she sent five of them to the hospital!

The Canadian woman was duking it out with a man on a downtown Halifax, Nova Scotia, street when cops were called in to break up the disturbance.

"She put up quite a struggle," said Crown prosecutor Dennis Theman.

"The man Miss Clyke was fighting with stopped right away but she just wouldn't give up.

"She was hitting, kicking and biting. They even had to call in more officers as backups to subdue her."

Despite the fact that Miss Clyke is only of average size and all of the cops were much bigger than she is, five of them landed in the hospital for treatment of bites to the hands and knees.

One constable was kicked so violently in the stomach that his skin was broken.

The brouhaha with the officers didn't end on the street, either. The battling woman fought back all the way to the pokey.

"They had quite a time getting her into the police car," said Theman. "And then again at the station getting her out of the car and into the cell."

Authorities say Miss Clyke had been drinking and suspect drugs may have been involved, which her lawyer has denied, because she put up such a violent struggle.

Miss Clyke, 34, was charged with causing a disturbance and two counts of assaulting a police officer. She was given a suspended jail sentence and ordered to seek treatment for her alcoholism and psychiatric counseling during her one-year probation period.

I'M SAVING MYSELF FOR A NERD!

— says 'Total Recall' beauty Sharon Stone

Chalk up another convert to the ranks of Celebrity Celibates — the deliriously sexy Sharon Stone of the hit flick Total Recall with muscleman Arnold Schwarzenegger has been totally without a lover for four years! That's 35,040 hours without sex for you serious fans of time, and it gets crazier — when Sharon finds Mr. Right, he'll probably be a calculator nerd in horn-rims and a clip-on bow tie!

"Good looks are only skin-deep and do not matter to me. You can be with a big hunk and yet he's a dumbo," says our Sharon. "I would sooner be with a man who is not so great-looking.

"Once my marriage was over I decided to change my attitude toward men. Sex is more in the mind than in the body. I like a man whose brain is more expansive than his private parts," says the athletic blonde bombshell, whose first screen smooch was from none other than miniseries hunk Richard Chamberlain in the '87 flick Allan Quatermain and the Lost City of Gold.

"I have not had a boyfriend for four years. No one has come up to scratch. I don't believe in casual sex, so work it out for yourself." Ooh-ooh, we get the picture, but keep talking, puh-leeze!

"I know what I'm after is something rare, but why not? The trouble with men in Hollywood is that you can be tall, blonde, pretty — but you can't be smart. They hate that," says the marvelous

Model goes out on a limb

Model Ivy Gunter's right leg was amputated after doctors discovered she had cancer — but you'd never know it as she adjusts her stocking on the real looking fake one she has on. She just got the new leg to replace the old mechanical limb at right. The new one is much more flexible and enables her to continue her profession as a fashion model in Atlanta.

Fake doc gets his kicks from real enemas!

A weirdo posing as a doctor gets his kicks by ordering nurses to give enemas to patients — and then he asks the patients to tell him how it felt.

Nurses at a half dozen New York City hospitals have been duped by the phony doc, who knows the names of specific patients and their physicians.

He ordered nurses to give them to hospital patients

"Well over a dozen fake orders for enemas have been reported since April, all involving women at private, upper Manhattan hospitals," said Police Captain Steven Davis.

The oddball made the nurses believe he was the attending physician.

"Then, very forcefully, he would telephone the nurses' station and give orders to administer soapsud enemas," said a hospital spokesman.

Later, the kinky crackpot would call the patients to ask "follow-up questions" about their enema experience, said Capt. Davis.

"He asks them how it felt, among other things."

Somehow, the man knows the names of the patients and their doctors. In some cases, he has called the women at home before their hospital admissions to ask questions about their medical histories.

"Using a variety of names, the person would ask for status reports on specific patients," said hospital spokesman Ken Raske.

It wasn't known how the fake physician chose his victims, "but he was very convincing over the phone and the nurses didn't dare ignore his orders," said Capt. Davis.

Patients at Mt. Sinai, Lenox Hill and New York Hospitals got enemas because of the hoaxster. "He's a real Mr. Weirdo," said Capt. Davis.

Mom beats baby to death — for spitting, cops say

A furious mom beat her 18-month-old son to death, cops say — because the baby spat out his food while she was feeding him.

"The child wouldn't swallow, she told him to swallow and he spat out his food," said Craig Converse of the Indianapolis Police Department's Homicide Division. "She hit him a number of times.

"The baby died of internal hemorrhaging in the abdominal area, a skull fracture and broken ribs. Apparently he hit against some furniture when she was beating him. It appears she really gave him a going over."

Police arrested Valencia Harris, 19, after the boy's death on July 11. She has been charged with murder.

According to authorities, Mrs. Harris was home alone with the victim Kevin daughter 6 months old. She told police she was trying to feed her son when she lost her temper, authorities say.

Little Kevin, who suffered from a problem with his esophagus, could eat only cereal and applesauce and was refusing to eat, police say.

She told him to swallow his food and when instead he spat food at her she lost control of herself, police say.

Mrs. Harris, who is separated from the father of her children, took her unconscious son to the hospital where he later died. An autopsy revealed the boy had been abused and Mrs. Harris was charged with homicide. She is now in jail awaiting a hearing on the charges.

It was ALL OVER when this fat lady 'sang'

ROSEANNE BARR-F!

I've popped enough blood-pressure pills to choke a giraffe just so I could calm down enough to write a column about the way that disgusting fruitcake Roseanne Barr "sang" our national anthem a few weeks ago.

By ED ANGER

And especially now that our great nation is being tested by those bloodthirsty towel-heads in Iraq.

Francis Scott Key, who penned America's beautiful anthem way back in September of 1814, must be spinning in his grave over what that screeching tub of lard did to our beautiful Star-Spangled Banner.

And not only that, she insulted every brave serviceman and veteran by butchering the anthem before a baseball game — America's pastime, for crying out loud. It makes my blood boil to think that I've got a metal plate in my head from the Korean War so this 200-pound bag of blubber is free to rake in $5 million a year from some idiotic TV comedy show.

Of course, even that much money doesn't go far when you spend seventy grand a week on groceries. I mean, how'd you like to battle this foulmouthed beach ball for the last pork chop on the dinner table?

Let's face it. Most chubby gals have nice singing voices and fat gals always solo in the church choirs and make it big in opera.

In fact, that's where the saying, "It ain't over till the fat lady sings," comes from. But this Roseanne has a singing voice like a walrus in heat, for Pete's sake. Still, the thing that's got me pig-biting mad is when she grabbed her crotch and spit on the ground after the outraged crowd booed the hell out of her. She might as well have burned the flag while she was at it.

I'll bet she was so upset she went home and polished off a couple of 14-pound country hams and five banana cream pies.

And to add insult to injury, her hothead husband Tom Arnold defended his thunder-thighs bride by threatening to beat up anybody who criticized her for dragging our national anthem through the gutter.

I've got a couple of Green Beret buddies who'd love to tangle with Terrible Tom over his hippo wife's honor. As for me, I would say I'll never watch this jelly belly's show on the tube again — but that is impossible because I've never watched it in the first place.

But I'll say it loud and clear, no REAL American would be caught dead tuning in to the Roseanne Barr show ever again. She humiliated our flag, our nation, our heritage and the memory of every heroic American who died under "the rockets' red glare."

ROSEANNE set off a furor heard from sea to shining sea after she butchered America's national anthem on TV.

ROSEANNE POLL

Tell Ed how you feel about Roseanne's disgusting performance at the Padres baseball game.

☐ Yes — I'll join Ed Anger and boycott the Rosanne Barr show on TV because of her disgraceful screeching of the national anthem.

☐ No — Roseanne had every right to disgrace our flag and I'll keep watching the show.

Lady guards have crooks lining up — to get in?

Police had a bizarre problem on their hands when they announced they had hired 14 women as guards in the men's jail — and curious crooks started showing up at the jailhouse to turn themselves in!

In all, four men walked into the police station in Malaga, Spain, asking to be thrown behind bars, cops said. In one case the culprit hadn't even been charged with a crime yet!

"We announced we were bringing on 28 young guards, 14 of them women," said police spokesman Jorge Vasquez. "Within two days we had two fugitives, an escapee and a confessed burglar in custody. In the burglar's case, we didn't even know a crime had been committed. But he said he did it and so we had to put him in jail."

Female guards in men's prisons are a novelty in Spain, where most jobs are considered either men's work or women's work. In the past two years, however, the national government has pursued a campaign for equal opportunity employment.

"But the men who turned themselves in are going to be disappointed," Vasquez said. "All the female guards are doing administrative duty or helping escort prisoners to their court hearings. They won't be anywhere near where the prisoners live and work."

Wife dials hubby — gets SWAT team

A woman trying to reach her husband got the shock of her life when she called the sheriff's SWAT team by mistake — and more than a dozen deputies phoned her to see what she wanted!

She was calling her hubby to find out what time he would be home for supper when she dialed the wrong number. "All the SWAT team guys have pagers programmed to the same number," said Joan Heller, spokeswoman for the Brevard County, Fla., Sheriff's Office. Her number appeared on their pagers.

"In the next few minutes, that woman got calls from more than a dozen deputies.

Fortunately, the mistake was discovered and the team was

NEIL HUROWITZ, DIVORCE LAWYER

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

Are You Unhappily Married?

DIVORCE: How To Get A Fair Shake From An Unfair Spouse!

A Top Trial Lawyer's Secret Checklists: Neil Hurowitz has defended the rights and privileges of unhappily married men and women in over 5,000 nasty divorce cases. It often gets down and dirty.

Reported By Jane Hawkins

DATELINE PENNSYLVANIA, Thursday, 2:30 p.m. Published Author and distinguished Lawyer Neil Hurowitz is no stranger to the grief you may face in a Divorce Action.

Described by peers as a crafty fox in the Courtroom and a no-holds-barred opponent in a legal battle, this strong yet compassionate Attorney is listed in the 1989-90 edition of Best Lawyers of America. If you are ever unfortunate enough to have Neil Hurowitz question you during a CROSS-EXAMINATION, you'll feel like you've been through a meat grinder. This man has seen it all...and he knows it all!

If you feel your marriage is headed for the Divorce Courts (or even if you're happily married, but unsure of your future) what you are about to read might shock you, surprise you, or make you think twice about splitting-up. Mr. Hurowitz puts it this way: "Divorce is a nasty business. And getting into a marriage is a lot easier than getting out of one. But, if a man or woman knows the score, and knows what RIGHTS he or she has, it can ease the pain and make facing the future brighter."

Recent studies show that over 60% of marriages end in divorce or separation. Yes, only 4 out of 10 survive. Maybe you are lucky enough to be one of those 4, but if you're not and you are thinking about divorce, you would be smart to have a lawyer like Neil Hurowitz defending you. (It can get down and dirty!)

As you might expect, this brilliant legal wizard has a full caseload. He is no stranger to working 18 hours a day. As a matter of fact, he's so busy he has to turn down cases because there's only so much time in the day. Yes, Neil's a busy man! So busy in fact, that he has two secretaries to screen his calls. But there's good news...

Neil Hurowitz has written a book. Even spouses in a GOOD MARRIAGE need it. And it's a must if you're thinking divorce.

You will not find this book on newsstands or bookstores yet. Publishers think it's too hot to handle. They're fearful.

But if you're unfortunate enough to be in a bad marriage you already know what FEAR is...and won't be afraid to read this book. The truth is, it could make you less afraid, and more secure. If you're a man, you'll discover how to avoid being taken to the cleaners by a selfish wife who wants all she can get. And if you're a woman, you'll discover easy ways to avoid having you and your children face a life of poverty and misery.

And if you're "The Other Woman" (or "The Other Man") involved with a married person, you'll find out that you have rights, too! This book's for everyone...

The title of Mr. Hurowitz's book is: DIVORCE: How To Get A Fair Shake From An Unfair Spouse. Reading this book will be an eye-opener for you. Forget all the things friends have told you about what breaking-up is like. Forget what you've read in newspapers. Forget being able to face the future alone. With this book in your hands, you'll feel as SECURE as Neil Hurowitz's clients do. There are typical Case Histories of Divorce Actions and Divorce Settlements. (Perhaps you'll see yourself in these situations and ugly predicaments.) There are pages and pages of Checklists and Strategies...yes, all the SECRET "TIPS" and INSIDE INFORMATION on what you should do to come out ahead in a DIVORCE ACTION. Everything covered in detail, in simple language that's easy to understand...and act on!

Getting a fair shake from an unfair spouse means you'll face the future confidently.

Read this book and have your eyes opened! DISCOVER how the wife of a rich man can get a divorce without sacrificing a rich lifestyle; DISCOVER how to deal with a greedy wife who wants to put you in the poorhouse; DISCOVER how to save children from unhappiness; DISCOVER the tricks a Lawyer uses to make you settle for the short end of the stick...

You'll also discover what the Law is all about, and how it can be made to work for you or against you. Very few Lawyers in America understand DIVORCE PROCEDURES AND TECHNIQUES the way Neil Hurowitz does (Neil's books have been sought by the Legal Profession, and he's a recognized Authority). Now he's written a book for YOU. No Legalese "mumbo-jumbo" to confuse you...his book is easy to understand and makes all the pitfalls of a Legal Divorce perfectly clear.

Contemplating Marriage?

KNOW what you're getting into before you tie the knot. Understand Pre-Marital Agreements. The fact is, reading this book likely will INSURE that your marriage will be a happy one. Neil's book is for everyone! (An Ounce Of Prevention Is Worth A Pound Of Cure.)

The manuscript for "DIVORCE: How To Get A Fair Shake From An Unfair Spouse" was shown to men and women who had experienced the AGONY of marriage-breakup. Their comments may make you decide to read this book too, if your marriage is on the rocks. Listen to what they say and ask yourself: "Should I read Neil's book?" Listen...this revealing book is for men and women all over America!

Barbara H., Pennsylvania, writes: "Even though I know for sure my husband's got millions stashed away, I now drive a Chevy instead of a Cadillac. Your book would have made all the difference, had I read it."

Lewis C., New Jersey, writes: "I read the book. I'll never be taken to the cleaners by a scheming woman again."

Caroline J., Iowa, writes: "I only got half the house and think I should have got it all. After all, my money paid for it. If I had read your book BEFORE I started my divorce action, things might have worked out different."

Marvin S., Canada, writes: "Dear Neil. Having gone through a nasty divorce myself, I think your book is the greatest. I have a teenage son and daughter. Guess what, Mr. Hurowitz? When they decide to tie the knot, I'll make sure they read your book BEFORE they march down the aisle. They'll avoid problems."

My girlfriend raped me, woman tells jury, but . . .

I didn't know she was a guy!

By SUSAN JIMISON

Andrea Reynolds is going to jail — for trying to rape a girlfriend who had no idea that Andrea was a man!

Transsexual faces jail in assault

The 5-foot, 6-inch Hollywood, Fla., transsexual was accused of pouncing on his victim, throwing her to the floor and attempting to sexually assault her. He swears his girlfriend seduced him, but a jury didn't believe him and he now faces five years in jail for his crime.

"If anyone was raped, it was myself," Andrea told Dade Circuit Judge Peter Capua. "She wanted me to have a heterosexual relationship with her.

"She just kept pushing me. I wasn't interested in her at all."

According to court testimony, Andrea, 31, befriended a pretty 33-year-old hairdresser in 1987 and visited her many times in her apartment. The transsexual was taking female hormones and dressing as a woman at the time and the two spent hours discussing hairdos, nail polish and other girlie subjects.

Andrea claims that his gal pal knew all along he was still physically a male, but the victim insists she had no idea. She says she knew nothing of Andrea's real gender until he threw himself on top of her one night in her apartment and said, "I'm going to give you something I haven't used in eight years."

She testified in court that although she pleaded with him, Andrea persisted, raping her on the floor.

"I thought she was a dyke and I said, 'Stop it . . . I'm not like that,' " the woman testified.

"He pulled my shorts down, he stood there in front of me and I said, 'Please don't. Please don't.' And he said, 'You must have known.' That's when he got on top of me."

The victim says Andrea raped her, but after hearing from a doctor who examined her hours after the attack, jurors decided to convict Andrea of the lesser charge of at-

Cop says man peddled dope — in courtroom!

Police Detective Javer Guzman couldn't believe his ears when a man sat next to him in Circuit Court — and offered to sell him two ounces of cocaine!

The shocked cop said he was dressed in plainclothes when Marcelo E. Espinosa offered him the dope deal in a Tampa, Fla., courtroom.

"I just kept thinking to myself what gall this guy had to sit in court and talk about selling cocaine," he said.

Guzman said he later met with Espinosa, 46, and bought the two ounces of coke. Espinosa pleaded innocent to Shocking find in a Michigan freezer: A skinless, hairless skull!

Creeps chop girl's head off — to use as a conversation piece, say cops

By JACK ALEXANDER
Staff writer

Two crazed killers wanted a unique "conversation piece" so they hacked off the head of a teenage girl, peeled off the skin and hair — and stuck it in the freezer.

Charged with murder in the bizarre slaying was Jaime "Jimbo" Rodriguez Jr., 21, who admitted he killed runaway Stephanie Dubay, 15, because he didn't like her, cops said. Facing the same charge was his cousin, Augustin Pena, 15, who bawled like a baby when a judge sent him to jail.

"As near as we can tell, they were going to save the head and try to preserve it as a memento or a conversation piece," said Warren, Mich., Deputy Police Chief Carl Muschong.

The victim apparently was slaughtered in the basement of Rodriguez' home with kitchen knives.

"For some reason they had a personality conflict and Jaime decided to kill her," said Chief Muschong.

The skinned and hairless head was discovered in a freezer in Rodriguez' house by a female friend of his. He apparently bragged to her about the killing, according to cops.

When the shocked woman found the head, she called another woman and they fled the house with the head in a plastic bag while Rodriguez was in another room, police said.

Cops raided the house after the two hysterical young women brought them the severed head. Other trash bags containing body parts were buried in the backyard of Rodriguez' home, said Chief Muschong.

The two young women had been "hanging around the house that appears to be a haven for teenagers in the area," said Chief Muschong.

Apparently, the teenage victim had gone to Rodriguez' house after an argument with her parents. A friend said she refused his offer of a ride home the night before her murder.

Rodriguez and Pena were jailed without bond on charges of murder, conspiracy to commit murder and mutilation of a human body.

COPS say Jaime Rodriguez, 21, admitted his role in the slaying of Stephanie Dubay, because he "didn't like her."

SUSPECT Augustin Pena, 15, bawled like a baby at his hearing.

PRETTY Stephanie Dubay, 15, was brutally murdered and chopped into pieces.

Coma man wakes

The victim of a car accident is making a miraculous recovery — after coming out of a three-year-long coma!

Responding to tickling and encouragement from his family, Marcello Manunza, 25, woke up in a hospital near Genoa, Italy, uttering "mama." He'd been in the coma since a car crash in November 1987.

He is now moving his limbs, speaking and can eat and understand what is said to him.

HOW TO BEAT STRESS

You can get immediate relief from stress anytime and almost anywhere, by following five simple techniques developed by an expert.

By CYNTHIA TALORI

"Anyone can learn to do them, and our clinical research shows they really work," says psychiatrist Dr. David E. Gross.

"The whole idea is to give everyone safe, constructive, healthy ways of letting off steam pretty much on the spot anytime during the day."

Here are Dr. Gross' five ways to beat stress. Try all of them and see which ones work best for you.

● Rolling a pencil. Place a pencil between the palms of your hands and roll it back and forth vigorously.

"Try not to think about the problems causing your stress. Just concentrate on the pencil," said Dr. Gross.

Many people report they can actually feel the stress slipping away as they roll the pencil, he added.

● Making up your own "cuss" words and start "swearing."

Pick nonsense words that have no real meaning and when the stress builds up find a private spot, "throw your head back and let 'er rip," he said. "You might find that the silliness of your nonsense swear words actually causes you to burst into laughter. And laughter puts out stress the way water puts out fire."

● Whistling. You can whistle up a new, stress-free mood quick as a wink. Just pick a happy, upbeat tune, pucker up and whistle!

● Silent screaming. "Go through all the motions of a real scream — screw up your face, take a deep breath, make the muscles in your throat tight, throw your head back and scream — but silently," said Dr. Gross.

● Smashing ice cubes. Take a bowl of ice cubes outside and — one at a time — throw them down on a rock or concrete.

"They break beautifully, the pieces shattering out in all directions, and you can feel your stress scattering with the pieces of ice."

Mom rated X for taking kid to a dirty movie!

Dear Dotti: I'm so mad I'm shaking! I took my 3-year-old daughter to see a movie and was appalled by all the violence, sex and cursing that showed up on the screen.

My child is still having nightmares and she's even repeating some of the foul words she heard. What's wrong with the people who make these films? Are they evil or just insane? — Horrified Mom in Wilmington

Dear Horrified: Don't be stupid! Every movie that appears in a theater is rated so parents can decide whether it's appropriate for children BEFORE they go in. If you don't have sense enough to do that, lady, you don't deserve kids!

Confidential

Dear Puzzled in Lincolnton: If your wife's earning $500 a night she ain't clerking at the store!

Dear Sensuous in Richmond: Your girlfriend is right — that's no way to eat frog legs in public!

Dear Confused in Grand Mesa: Anybody who tries to commit suicide 27 times isn't trying hard enough!

Dear Reluctant Gal in Dallas: It's a lot like slurping an ice cream from a cone though not so tasty!

Dear Cursed in Canada: How many times do I have to tell you pinheads that Countess Sophia Sabak is the psychic, not me?

Dear Wits' End in Memphis: Spare the rod, spoil the child are STILL words to live by!

Neighbor's making passes at me

Dear Dotti: My neighbor keeps flirting with me and making passes, and if she keeps it up I'm going to give in. The problem is, we're both women. Any suggestions? — Infatuated in Cheraw

Dear Infatuated: For goodness sakes, girl, hurry up and find a man!

Bone-brained 'pal' wrecked my diet

Dear Dotti: Last night I was at a friend's house for dinner and she insisted that I eat and eat and eat even though she knew I was on a diet. I tried to refuse gracefully but she wouldn't take no for an answer. I finally had to give in and wound up eating more calories than I'm allowed in three days on my diet.

What would you have done if you had been in my shoes, Dotti? I'd appreciate your advice because this kind of thing might happen again. — Dieting in Reno

Dear Dieting: If the moron had pressured me, I would have said: "I'd be happy to eat more if the food was good but it's not. In fact, dearie, I'm about to puke!"

Mom tells folks I don't bathe

Dear Dotti: My mother humiliates me in front of other people by telling them I NEVER bathe. That's not true, Dotti. I shower every day but my mother denies it just because she can't hear the water running when I'm in the bathroom and she's several rooms away. What can I do, Dotti? I'm tired of my mother making a fool out of me. — Sad in Rhode Island

Dear Sad: The next time you get ready to shower tell your mother — and invite her to watch!

Why do you get letters, Dotti?

Dear Dotti: A few weeks ago a man asked you what you thought about his poetry and you said: "I hate to say it, pinhead — but your poems stink!" How can you possibly expect to receive letters when you dish out ignorant comments like that? — Furious in Missouri

Dear Furious: For your information I receive several bags of mail a day. As for why people keep writing, you tell me — you wrote, too, fool!

I'm sickened by my brother's habits

Dear Dotti: This may not sound like a big problem to you but my brother always has his finger up his nose and I think it's real gross. It seems like every second of the day he has a booger on his finger. Even worse, he wipes them on me! What should I do? — Grossed Out in Vegas

Dear Grossed Out: Two can play that game, sweetie.

Dotti will answer your letters — and tell it like it is. Just write to her, c/o Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462.

Ask the Countess

Why did I talk in my sleep in a strange language?

Dear Countess: My mother said I talked in my sleep until I was out of high school, but strangely, she said I spoke in a foreign language that she couldn't understand. I don't know any foreign languages, Countess, and the fact that I was speaking one in my sleep has puzzled me all my life. Can you help? I'd certainly appreciate your insight. — Doris in Victorville

Dear Doris: The language you spoke was Russian, which you learned in a previous life. Clear your mind and meditate a few minutes each day for more insight into your past.

Man survived raging inferno because . . .

'God wants me to live'

Dental student Kenneth Campbell was horribly burned when a gasoline truck became a roaring inferno of death.

But his unflinching faith in God has given him the strength and the determination to come out of his ordeal a winner!

It's been several years since that fateful day when Ken sat in his car at an intersection not far from the Northwestern University campus in Evanston, Ill.

He was waiting for the red light to change. Beside his car, an 8,000-gallon gasoline truck was also waiting. Then, with the speed of a heartbeat, the fires of hell lit up the night sky.

An out-of-control flatbed truck rammed the rear of the tanker, turning its volatile cargo into a searing sea of flame that engulfed Ken's car, horribly burning the young man.

Ken spent four touch-and-go months in the hospital before he was allowed to return to the home of his parents in suburban Sacramento, Calif.

"A lot of people ask, 'Why did this evil thing happen to you?'" Ken said.

"But I think God has a purpose for me, that's for sure. He wants me to live. And I thank God for giving me the strength to go on."

THANKFUL BURN victim Kenneth Campbell, as he studies his Bible.

Extraterrestrial hunters wiped out the dinosaurs 50 million ...s ago and they're still coming to Earth — to kill off our ...les!

That's the word from Dr. Josef Travnicek, who has studied the remains ...ndreds of dinosaurs and whales and found that all of them had been shot with laser weapons unlike anything used by mankind.

"It's certainly an astonishing theory but one that's firmly rooted in scientific fact," the Czechoslovakian paleoecologist told newsmen in Brno.

"Changes in climate didn't drive the dinosaurs into extinction. Pollution and Japanese fishermen aren't killing off our whales. Someone — or some thing — from a distant planet is responsible for the carnage. The only possible explanation is that these extraterrestrials are big game hunters who wiped out the dinosaurs and are now going after our whales for sport."

Dr. Travnicek's report met with some skepticism in the scientific community but he was able to produce compelling evidence to support his claims.

Photographs of dinosaur skulls recovered from sites in France, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia clearly show that the bone had been neatly punctured and seared as if burned by laser weapons.

The remains of 47 whales found worldwide over the past 18 months all had identical laser wounds, Dr. Travnicek explained.

"Analysis of these wounds indicated that they were caused by a laser device of enormous power and range," continued the expert. "The angles of the holes found in the skulls also indicate that the weapons were fired from the sky.

"The implication is that the creatures were hunted and killed by hunters in aircraft, most likely UFOs. The discovery of numerous headless dinosaurs and whales presents us with yet another possibility," he added.

"In my opinion, these extraterrestrial hunters have decapitated some of the victims, suggesting that they regard some of their kills as trophies to be mounted on walls."

Dr. Josef Travnicek

Dr. Herman Prehm, the German paleontologist, called Dr. Travnicek's shocking theories "fascinating" but said he would like to see more proof.

"Intelligent life might well exist on other planets," he said. "I'm in no position to dispute that.

"But to bluntly state that extraterrestrials are coming here to hunt might be taking things a bit too far."

When a judge asked an accused drug trafficker to list his assets, he named his kids — all 60 of them!

"I have 60 children," Glovis Arteaga Encinas, 65, told startled U.S. Magistrate Peter Palermo.

DEAD HUSBAND RETURNS TO RESCUE HIS BRIDE

By BEATRICE DEXTER
Correspondent

In an amazing real-life version of the heartwarming hit movie Ghost, young widow Susie Winters was visited by her dead husband — and saved from tragedy!

The 23-year-old teaching assistant says her husband Richard returned from the grave eight months after he died, appearing to her in the small home they shared in San Antonio, Tex.

The ghost warned Susie about a young musician she was dating, and convinced her to break off the relationship. Weeks later, the musician was arrested for kidnapping and raping another woman.

The visits stopped after that.

"I saw the movie Ghost three times this summer and I couldn't believe it — it was the story of Richard and me all over again," said Susie, who was married four years before Richard died in a car accident on Jan. 13, 1989.

"Richard came to me when he thought I was in danger and warned me. And he left when he knew I was safe, just like Patrick Swayze did in the movie."

Susie says the ghost of Richard first came to her in September, 1989 as she was listening to music in her bedroom. After that he appeared night and day for weeks. She was frightened at first, but began to sense that the ghost meant her no harm.

"His love just flowed from him," she told The NEWS in an exclusive interview. "He seemed tender and concerned — and I could sense that he was very worried about me.

"For a while I thought he was just upset because I was grieving so much for him. Then I realized that he always appeared around the time I was seeing a certain musician."

The ghost would appear for minutes at a time and Susie would speak with him. She says she could "feel" his responses and believes she actually saw his ghostly outline on several occasions.

"He would get agitated if I was going out on a date with my new friend," Susie recalled.

"He would unplug the telephone, block the doorway with furniture — and once he even took the distributor cap off my for drinks." Incredibly, the ghost's interference saved his sweetheart from harm — just as Patrick Swayze's character Sam Wheat saved his lover from danger.

Richard's efforts to keep Susie away from her new beau made her suspicious of the man. Eventually, she stopped seeing him altogether.

"Not long afterward, I heard he had been arrested," Susie said. "Apparently he went out with a girl and held her captive in his house for three days while he raped and tortured her.

"I knew when I heard that why Richard had been so worried about me. He had been trying to warn me away from the man."

Since the arrest of her musician friend, Susie has only seen Richard's ghost one time — and that was to share a tender goodbye.

"It was sad, but I know I'll see him again after I die," the young widow said. "Now I want everyone who has lost a loved one to believe what the movie Ghost is trying to tell us: There is a life after death and the spirits of our dead loved ones watch over us, just

Town shocked as famed professor's daughter charges:

My nuclear scientist dad molested me for 16 years!

Everyone thought Angela Mattson grew up the pampered, beloved child of perfect parents until the day she revealed her darkest secret — charging that her renowned nuclear engineer dad had sexually abused her for 16 years!

Now the close-knit community of College Park, Md., is reeling in shock. At the University of Maryland, where Angela's father Frank J. Munno has taught for 32 years, he is known as a caring person but she says that wasn't so at home.

The woman, who now lives with her husband Philip in Bowie, Md., says her father manipulated her for years.

At one point she says she was so devastated by what was happening to her she considered suicide. "I've learned it's sometimes easier to explain what happened than to keep it a dark secret," said Angela, 28. "I'm hoping that by coming forward now I can help someone else.

"I'm hoping there's a potential abuser out there who will see this and think twice about what he's doing.

"Maybe he'll realize that his daughter will grow up and press charges."

Munno, who heads the university's nuclear engineering program, has denied his daughter's accusations.

"I plead not guilty," said Munno, 54.

A grand jury has charged him with four sex crimes that allegedly occurred between 1969 and 1987. They include incest, child abuse, unlawful carnal knowledge and unnatural and perverted sex practices.

Angela never told her family about what was happening to her because it was too painful for her. And she couldn't date out in the open or have a normal relationship because of her dad.

It was her inability to have a normal relationship with a man that drove the soft-spoken young woman to the brink of suicide.

Finally, after she finished school, Angela began seeing Philip Mattson, the man she married. It was only after she confessed her secret to him and he encouraged her to seek help that she did.

Now she sees a therapist and is finally on the road to recovery.

"I've discovered I'm a worthwhile person," said Angela. "What happened to me wasn't my fault."

STOP TRAINING WITH GATORS!

. . . wrestling bosses warn the Wild Samoan

By PICKAX JACK O'BRIEN

Irate wrestling bosses are threatening to bar Afa the Wild Samoan from the ring forever — because Afa has been secretly fighting man-eating alligators and crocodiles!

Officials fear the ferocious Samoan's top-secret training tactics will make him too ruthless for the ring.

"We want this man to be fully aware that his opponents are human beings, not jungle beasts," one official said.

"We have very strict rules against training with wild animals, because that sort of thing can turn a man into the kind of barbarian we in the wrestling world won't tolerate."

But Afa has not only admitted to The NEWS that he fights killer crocs and alligators, he insists the training is essential to his plan to become champion of the world.

"After putting my life on the line with these beasts, any man I face in the ring looks like a real pussycat," said the savage Samoan through his interpreter The Professor.

And when he isn't locked in mortal combat with fearsome crocs, the 310-pound wild man walks on hot coals to toughen his feet and smashes coconuts over his head to strengthen his skull.

"I have the hardest skull in all of wrestling," Afa boasts. "When I hit an opponent with a head butt, he never forgets it.

"I break dozens of coconuts over my head at each training session. And then I drink the juice, which gives me power!"

But the outrageous Afa says it's his life-and-death brawls with hungry gators and crocodiles that have made him the fiercest wrestler on the face of the earth.

"How can any man scare me when every day of my life I fight animals that could tear a person's head off?" Afa asks.

"But the powerful beasts never so much as scratch my skin. I am much tougher than they are. I get a fresh supply of alligators and crocodiles delivered to my gym every two weeks — because after two weeks, they are just too tired to fight. No wrestler and no alligator has ever gotten the best of me!"

WOW! says stunned superstar grappler Chris Duffy as he reads his favorite paper, The Weekly World News.

CLEVER CROOKS OUTFOX COPS

By JACK ALEXANDER

Clever crooks purposely tripped the burglar alarm at a fashionable home but didn't break in and steal $100,000 in jewelry until after cops investigated the alarm and left the scene.

"It makes you feel a little foolish knowing those punks were watching us check all the doors and windows of the house," said an embarrassed deputy.

The brainy thieves touched off the alarm when they broke the lock on a sliding glass door of a plush home in an upper class neighborhood of Boca Raton, Fla.

"We don't know whether they hid in bushes, waited down the street or what," said the deputy.

The deputies left when their search turned up nothing and they couldn't reach the homeowners.

When the coast was clear, the patient burglars returned to the house later and stole $100,000 in jewelry, silver and cash.

"They knew exactly what they wanted," said Josephine Chiapparelli, who was out for the evening with her husband.

The crooks even took time out for a couple of nips of whiskey before they cleaned out the hapless homeowners' liquor closet and hit the road.

Why Joan of Arc got all fired up

Joan of Arc said she had angelic visions while enveloped in a mysterious "aura," but there's new evidence she may have been suffering from a mild case of epilepsy.

A transcript of the saint's 1431 trial points to a type of epilepsy marked by complex partial seizures, says Dr. Lydia Bayne of the University of California-San Francisco.

Joan claimed she listened in ecstasy to the voices of angels whenever she heard church bells clang.

Certain kinds of mild epileptic seizures, roughly matching Joan's description, are sparked by specific sounds, said Dr. Bayne. — SCOTTY PAUL

PSST! HEY GALS . . .

How to hang on to your guy

SMART beauties know that keeping up their appearance is one of the most important things to do to keep their guy from wandering.

By PAM VOLZ

Gals who want to hang on to their guys had better forget about keeping the house tidy or whipping up yummy dinners.

The key to keeping a man coming back for more is to keep yourself looking like a glamor gal, says a top European fashion model. No man wants to come home to a gal if she looks like a scrubwoman.

"I just make a point of looking after my best assets. It's like an insurance policy.

"Take care of yourself — and he will take care of you," advises the beauty, who has dated many of the world's most eligible bachelors.

Nine surefire tips to keep him from roving

Here are her other tips for keeping a man from straying:

● Flattery is the best policy. Make a fuss over your guy by picking out his good points and praising him on them.

Even if your man's a fat blimp, he's got to have some attractive feature.

"It might be his hair, his body or his eyes. Tell him he looks great."

● Never chew your nails. Guys may not mention your nails, but they notice them. And the one thing no man likes is a hand with chewed-up fingernails. And as long as you're going to tidy up your fingernails, do the same for your toenails.

● Be careful how you talk. Guys like gals who look like ladies and ACT like ladies. You might think you're cool letting out a curse word or two, but your man will think you've got no class.

● Makeup is fine, but the Tammy Faye Bakker look is a no-no. Men want to see the real woman.

● If you're single, don't start giving your guy "baby talk." Telling him how much you like kids and how you'd love to have a family of your own is likely to give your man roaming feet. Trapping a man into marriage is fine, but making him feel trapped by talking about kids and family is bound to make him start noticing other gals.

● Never tell your man about your past conquests. No guy wants to be part of a long list, especially when it concerns his lady. He wants you to look good to other guys, but he doesn't want to know that he's the last in a long line to hold your hand.

● Be sexy, but don't be a tramp. Low-cut gowns are O.K. for actresses playing blonde bombshells, but it's not the way for a lady to dress.

Showing a little bit of cleavage or a little bit of leg is great for sparking a guy's imagination. But showing him all the goodies in the store is a definite NO.

● Keep him laughing. A attractive in a woman than a thigh-high slit in a skirt. Being funny will relax him and make him want to be around you. And don't forget to laugh at his jokes, too.

● Don't be obvious — even with your special guy. No man likes a woman who over-flirts cheap and desperate. You can make your guy know you're interested by giving him quick, meaningful looks and standing or sitting close enough to him that your arms or knees touch.

But throwing your arms around your guy and hanging on or pinching his behind are

- Requiring AIDS testing for all male flight attendants and known homosexuals.

Gal tries to outrun bull — and fails

Unlucky Stephanie Kern became the first woman to be injured in Spain's running of the bulls.

The 21-year-old college student from Myrtle Beach, S.C., suffered a fractured skull when she was knocked down by a bull during the run made famous by author Ernest Hemingway.

"She wanted to do it so badly," said the young woman's mother Hannah. "I support her in what she wants to do, which might have been a mistake this time."

Although women are allowed to participate in the run, few are seen among the dozens of mostly young men who test their bravery by running ahead of the bulls.

Ana Amezaga tells:

How I Lost 37 Pounds, 13 of them right in the first week.

BEFORE: Here I am one year ago. I weighed 152 pounds (I'm 5'3") and couldn't lose weight.*

Now I can eat as much as I like and I still don't gain weight. It seems unbelievable but I have lost my 37 overweight pounds without dieting. And I'm still eating the way I used to eat.

...without any dieting, without gaining back one single ounce afterward.

As you can tell from this photo, when I was 13, I was already quite overweight. In school I remember my classmates calling me "fatty". But even worse, I continued to get fatter and fatter. When I was 17, I already weighed 147 pounds, and I was only 5'3". Happily, that is all just a bad memory now. I wouldn't go through all that again for anything in the world.

When I met Alberto, my boyfriend, I said to myself, "Now I have to lose weight at all costs." In two months, I had already lost 17 pounds. But I have to admit that to get those results I had to follow a drastic diet, hardly eating anything. Later, when I started eating normally again, I got fat again. So in one month I gained back 22 pounds. I was desperate. Then I weighed 152 pounds and could no longer succeed in losing weight.

Several months ago, I was looking for a job. The only ones I was offered were hourly work with very poor pay. But the real problem was my excess weight. They don't hire a secretary who is a roly-poly.

I was becoming more and more frantic.

One night, when I went home, brother laughing. They were watching a TV movie. I was about to say "hi" when I heard his brother say, "Tell me, doesn't it bother you that Ana is so fat?" I didn't want to hear the answer.

With tears in my eyes, I went straight to my bedroom. That was the night I wrote to you.

I had already tried so many diets, capsules and other systems for losing weight that I thought, "Why not try one more thing?" Even more so because there was no problem with this method. Either I would lose 10 pounds per week until I reached my ideal weight, or it wouldn't cost me a single cent. I wanted to try this method in secret. I was so afraid

I would have given a million to be sure of losing weight!

I must say, though, that this time I did have hope. I had read the testimonials of many women who, like me, had not been able to lose weight. And who, with this method, had lost 20, 30, 40 pounds, even more. They said that it was the first time they had lost so much weight. I would have given a million for that to happen to me, too. Twelve days later, the postman gave me a plain, discreet envelope.

It seems unbelievable, but with this method I have had the impres-is really helping me. It was as if there were always someone at my side who had perfect knowledge of my problem and was lovingly guiding me until I reached my ideal weight.

You can't imagine how wonderful it is to have that sensation! I had the deep-down feeling that this time, I really was going to lose weight...and I was right.

Inside the envelope, along with the method, there was a very friendly letter with some advice that no one had ever given me before. When I read it, I understood why I had not been able to lose weight.

I started the method on a Thursday morning. And I have to confess that from that day on, it has been another life for me.

I was afraid of failing

...For the first few days, I didn't dare step on my scale because I was afraid I would still weigh 152 pounds. But after four days, I decided to do it.

It was Monday. That day was something of a disappointment for me: I had actually only lost about four pounds. But I continued anyway, because it said in the method that it was normal to lose just a little during the first days. But I was also encouraged to continue by the fact that I could still eat anything I wanted – dieting was not necessary.

Even so, I lost 13 pounds during the first week

After following the method for one full week, I weighed myself

every means available to us but there was no way," said Dr. Banchs.

"The situation was hopeless, and after 25 minutes we declared him dead."

The surgeon was still in the clinic 20 minutes later when a nurse raced up to him and said, "The American is alive!"

"I didn't believe her but when I got to the operating room I could see for myself it was true," he said.

"We immediately stabilized the patient with drugs and placed him in intensive care."

What happened next, said the surgeon, would overshadow even the miraculous recovery. Michaels awakened, calling for doctors and his wife.

"He wasn't entirely conscious, but it was clear that he wanted us to see the coin in his hand," said Dr. Banchs.

"Michaels looked at his wife and said, 'Granddad gave it to me. It's from Gramps.' She said, 'Honey, he's dead.' But he insisted, 'No, he's not — he's alive. He gave me my 50-cent piece.' "

In a brief interview with reporters, the patient said that his "spirit" floated up and hovered above the surgeons.

"Then I saw a blinding light, and was drawn toward it.

"I was at peace, and as I moved into the light, I could see myself in a reflection of mist getting younger and younger. 'This must be heaven,' I said to myself."

Michaels said he heard the voice of his grandfather who gave him the coin and was told: "Go back. It is not your time."

Dr. Banchs confirmed that the coin, an American "Walking Liberty" half-dollar, was dated 1928 and also was in mint condition.

"Where it came from, I don't know," he said. "But I know this — he didn't have it before the operation."

AFTER: See for yourself. Now I weigh 114 pounds. I never thought I could lose so much weight: 37 pounds in four weeks.

couldn't believe it. My clothing was already too big for me. My boyfriend started looking at me differently. He told me, "You look prettier to me. Have you lost weight?" Then I told him everything...

I continued slimming down. I felt like I was constantly losing weight. In four weeks, I lost 37 pounds. And the best thing of all is that I have never felt so well. My parents, my friends, my neighbors couldn't believe their eyes when they saw me lose so many pounds. When I saw their reactions, I finally understood how much importance people attach to your figure.

And believe me, I have never received so much praise.

I'm just not the same any longer. I'm living a new life now that I'm slim. And at last, thanks to this method, I can eat anything I like because I no longer gain weight.

months now I haven't regained even 4 ounces. And now I'm sure that I'll never get fat again.

I have told lots of my friends who wanted to lose weight about this method. They have all lost weight. One of them lost 57 pounds in a little less than two months. I really believe that all women who have not been able to lose weight should try this method.

My boyfriend is delighted to see me so slim...and he told me that at the end of the month he was going to buy me a high-fashion dress. We went to the shop and I was crazy with happiness when the saleswoman congratulated me on my figure. My boyfriend has never been so proud of me.

The only recognized method for "really" losing weight

Even my doctor congratulated me when he saw how much I had lost. I told him about the method and he said he had never seen anything like it...and that he was going to advise his patients to use it because it is so easy, involves no hardships, and has a success rate

Every day, we receive testimonials from women who have lost weight. They say that, thanks to this method, they have lost 20, 30, 40 pounds, and even more. They add that this is the first time that they have really lost weight, and that this method doesn't have anything in common with any other method.

With this method, you can eat whatever you like. There is not a diet, you don't have to do calisthenics or take medications. You lose at least 10 pounds per week, until you reach your ideal weight. Afterwards, like so many others who have lost weight by this method, you won't gain it back.

Would you like to be a slim woman, too?

Do you want to really lose weight, and not worry about those excess pounds that prevent you from being really happy? Then do what Ana Teresa Amezaga and so many other women have done to lose weight with this method. Try it, even just out of curiosity since you don't risk losing a single cent. And if you don't do it for your own sake, do it for those who love you, for the one person who would like to see you really slim.

Yes, now it's finally your turn to have the figure you have always dreamed about. Remember: with this method, you lose 10 pounds per week until you reach your ideal weight. And without having to diet, eating whatever you want.

This is an amazing trial offer. Have you ever seen anything like it?

Within a period of one month, you have to reach your ideal weight. If you are not 100% satisfied with the results, or if you are not content for any reason whatever, just return the method within 90 days after buying it. EAT BEANS!

They'll lower your blood fat

Beans, beans, the musical fruit, the more you eat, the more you toot — and they lower cholesterol!

That's the word from researchers who are studying the effect of legumes on blood cholesterol levels. According to Dr. James Anderson at the University of Kentucky, a mere cup of baked beans can lower hazardous blood fat an average of 10 percent if eaten every day.

He says ordinary pork and beans right out of the can will do just fine.

8 great ways to start a conversation

These are the eight best ways to start a conversation, says social welfare expert Dr. Eileen Gambrill.

1. Comment on the situation or activity that you and another person are involved in. In a supermarket line, say something like, "I see you're buying the fresh-baked rolls — they're really terrific here."

2. Compliment someone on their behavior, appearance or other attribute. For example, with a neighbor, "You have a wonderful tan." Or in a coin laundry, "That's a beautiful tablecloth."

3. Express interest in what a person is doing. Seated next to someone on a bus or a plane, you might say, "I notice you're into a book I've been meaning to read — is it any good?"

4. Ask to join the other person or invite the other person to join you. Said Dr. Gambrill: "If you're sitting alone in a coffee shop, bus or train and notice someone looking for a seat, you could offer the place next to you by saying, 'I'd be happy to have you join me.'"

5. Ask for help, advice, an opinion or information. People enjoy being helpful. At a toy shop, ask a fellow shopper, "Which game do you think a 7-year-old boy might enjoy?"

6. Offer something. If you're sitting next to someone on a bus, airplane or train, offer to share your peanuts or magazine. At a party where you don't know anyone, you'll meet people fast if you offer to serve the drinks.

7. Share your feelings. If you want to strike up a conversation in a dentist's office, try, "I'm feeling nervous — how about you?" Expressing your feelings encourages others to share theirs.

8. Greet the person and introduce yourself.

Just walk up to the person you would like to meet, smile warmly, offer your hand and say, "Hi, I'm Sally, Marie's friend." Or "I just moved into the apartment next door."

This straightforward technique works almost anywhere.

Want to Make Some Extra Money?

Get Paid to READ Classified Ads In Your Home Town Newspaper

PROFITS UP TO $2,000 A DAY POSSIBLE

by Stephen R. Paige

Imagine sitting in your easy chair thumbing through the classified ads and making two thousand dollars on a typical day. This is one of the most incredible money making plans I've ever seen.

In one or two hours of skimming through the paper you could be on your way to a $60,000 a month income. All you have to do is read through the classified ads of your local paper and jot down some information.

There's no work required at all. Unless you consider reading the newspaper work. All you need is your local newspaper and a pencil. Nothing could be easier. For 25 cents you can start a business which brings you up to a half million dollars in profit every year.

This is the easiest money making plan under the sun. It's a "push-button" business that requires no effort, no investment, no experience, and no office. Anyone can do it, once you know how.

NEVER ADVERTISED BEFORE

This plan is new. It has nothing to do with mail order, multi-level marketing, credit card techniques, gambling, chain letters, government loans, banking systems, junk mail, door-to-door selling, real estate, party plans, or anything else you've ever seen advertised before. In fact, it has never before been offered to the general public. And by following the step-by-step instructions I will send you, in just one or two hours you can earn an easy two thousand dollars.

In every city newspaper in the United States there are hundreds of my $2000 money-makers available to you every day. Pick and choose the best if you like. You'll have no competition. And you'll be helping people out. In fact, most folks will thank you a hundred times for contacting them. You'll be doing everybody a favor. Everyone comes out a winner.

One New York man used this system and lined up $30,000 in the first two weeks. All in pure profit. Now he works a few hours a day, then takes the rest of the day off. It cost me thousands of dollars to figure this plan out. Now I'm practically giving it away for a song. The reason is simple. There's no competition. Anyone can do it. Millions of people need your help. Every city in America contains a hidden goldmine of opportunity just ripe for the pickin.

A 28 year old man from a small town in the Midwest uses this system and works one hour a day, in the evenings. He makes his $2,000 in 30 minutes to an hour, then quits and watches TV. This is the ultimate lazy man's way to riches. Just thumb through the classified ads and jot down some information. You'll be amazed at how easy it is. And you can easily do better than $2000 with the step-by-step instructions I will send you.

If you have extra time on your hands, this is the opportunity you've been waiting for. You can be pulling in an easy $10,000 a week. This is honest and easy money. This plan will make you a hero in your own home town. Let me show you how to make this quick and easy money. There are hundreds of people who need your help every day. I'll show you exactly how to follow this plan. I'll supply you with detailed instructions which you can use immediately. There's no waiting for your money. It's available to you the very next day.

My program leaves nothing to guesswork. You'll be sent everything you need to know. The best part about this is that your local newspaper is doing all the work for you. All you need to do is spend a few minutes reading. Soon hundreds of people will be using this program and making tons of money. But you can be first. I'll show you how.

REAL LIFE EXAMPLES

An ex-auto worker from Detroit was one of the first to put my plan to work. He had been laid off during one of the famous General Motors work shortages. I sent him my system with complete instructions. Within three days he made over $4,000. This was part time.

A retired bus driver from Texas tried my system too. I just spoke with him recently. He told me he's got 10 people working for him now. Each is pulling in about $2,000 a day. He only takes half for himself. Even so he makes an easy ten grand. Not bad for a day's work.

These are real life examples of how easy it is to follow this plan. You won't hear much about it elsewhere. Because up to now it's been a trade secret. I'm sure you can understand why. Once you get your hands on this program you'll never have to worry about money again. That's my guarantee.

Hundreds of people in your own town are waiting for you to help them. Each will pay you handsomely for your help. It will only take a few minutes to do so. Following this program you'll be able to make thousands of dollars a week just sitting in your easy chair. There's nothing easier I've ever seen anywhere.

Making money with this program is a snap. You'll be amazed at how easy it really is. You can work whenever you want. You're not tied down to anything. You're your own boss. Make your own hours. All you need is your local newspaper and a pencil. My book shows you everything else.

UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE

Send for my money making program today. Spend about 30 minutes reading the simple step-by-step instructions. Then put my plan to work. If you give my plan an honest try and haven't made at least $2,000 within the first 5 days, simply return the book and your money will be refunded with no questions asked. This is your chance to make big money with no work. I've done it, friends of mine have done it, and you can do it too by following the simple instructions I will send you by return mail. I guarantee everything I've told you is 100% true, and will make you a lot of money, quickly and easily.

Fair enough?

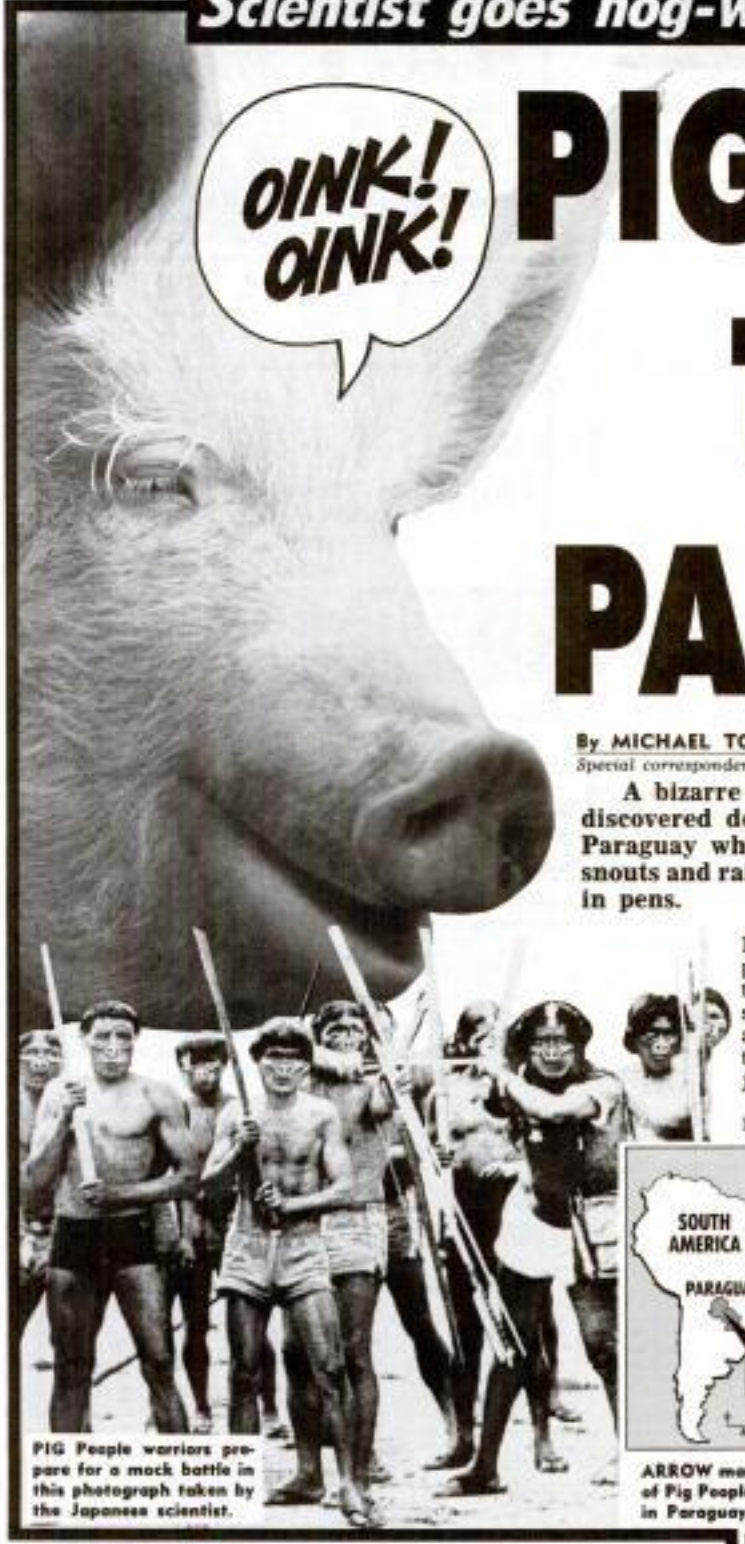
Scientist goes hog-wild over shocking find!

PIG PEOPLE TRIBE OF PARAGUAY



PIG People warriors prepare for a mock battle in this photograph taken by the Japanese scientist.

By MICHAEL TODD
Special correspondent

A bizarre tribe of savages has been discovered deep in the rain forests of Paraguay who stretch their noses into snouts and raise their children with pigs in pens.

The incredible Pig People of Paraguay were discovered and photographed by Japanese anthropologist Suro Watanabe who spent 15 years researching myths about them and finally found their village after a dangerous jungle trek.

Pig-like habits are prized by adults, he noted. Tribal warriors wear a device around their necks that pulls back on the nose, enlarging the nostrils to give a fierce, snoutish appearance.

ARROW marks spot of Pig People village in Paraguay.

Watanabe says the native Indians in the area all fear the Pig People, believing them to be half-human and half-swine.

"Myths of fearsome, half-human monsters are perpetuated by the Pig People themselves in order to scare the other natives," said Watanabe.

"For hundreds of miles in every direction, many tribes of headhunters and cannibals gave the Pig People's territory wide berth."

According to Watanabe, there are only about 250 Pig People left and they live in one small village in northeastern Paraguay.

"They worship a giant hog and they have constructed a large crude statue of the god which sits on a hill overlooking the village.

The wacky savages . . .

- Stretch their noses into snouts!
- Raise their children in pens!
- Love to take baths — in mud!

"Children are actually penned up with pigs from about 2 years old until they are 10, when they are initiated into the tribe. They wallow in the mud and fight with the pigs for scraps of food thrown in the pens."

When courting, adult males of the tribe actually grunt and sniff about a female like a bull hog does with his chosen mate.

The most desirable females in the village are plump and do their best to mimic the behavior of sows, said Watanabe.

"When a village man wants to compliment a woman on her looks, he utters a phrase that loosely translated means, 'She's a real porker.'" said Watanabe. "These people look like pigs, act like pigs and live like pigs," he said.

Cleanliness and sanitation are actually frowned upon by these people, he noted. They wake up in the morning, go outside their huts and bathe in the mud, he said.

Wife lives with mummified hubby for three years!

By LAUREL BOWIE
Correspondent

Lonely oldster Betty Jeffrey couldn't bear to part with her beloved hubby Albert when he died, so she kept his mummified body in her apartment for three tear-filled years — propped in a chair in front of the TV!

Maintenance men who entered the apartment to fix a water leak found the long-gone gramps neatly dressed in a blue satin smoking jacket, his blank eyes fixed on a rerun of Twilight Zone.

"It's his favorite program," Betty, 72, told the horrified repairmen.

Shell-shocked cops in Hackney, England, said ailing Albert apparently died of a stroke in the couple's high-rise apartment at the age of 69.

The brokenhearted widow hoisted him into their comfiest chair, dolled him up in his best smoking jacket, smoothed a warm blanket over his bony knees — and left him there in all his grisly glory.

When curious neighbors asked about her husband's health, Betty's stock reply was, "He's doing better. He'll be up and around very soon."

And she continued to pick up her late mate's monthly pension check, lawmen said.

But the creepy charade came to an end when a water leak on the floor below sent unsuspecting workmen to Betty's apartment to check the plumbing.

When no one answered their knock at the door, the men walked in and found emaciated Albert propped in his chair, his eyes glued on Twilight Zone.

"I knew something was wrong right off," one of the repairmen told police.

"His wife said he was watching his favorite show. But then I walked up and touched him — and his head fell off on the floor."

The stunned plumbers rushed out and called police.

"We couldn't believe it when we saw it," said Inspector Ian Malone. "She was living with a corpse and just carrying on her life like nothing had happened.

"She must have sat beside him night after night after night, just like he was still alive.

"It's really a very tragic thing."

The weird widow has been placed in the care of social workers.

Her mummified hubby was given a proper burial, lawmen said.

I couldn't stand to bury Albert!

FAMED spoon bender Uri Geller made a believer out of a viewer.

Holy molar!

Psychic bends granny's choppers — by mistake!

A shocked granny got a mind-boggling demonstration of Uri Geller's powers when her dentures suddenly twisted like pretzels as she watched the psychic perform on TV!

"I've never been a believer in the supernatural before but I'm certainly convinced of Mr. Geller's psychic powers now," said Gertrude Marshall.

The 62-year-old widow said she was watching Geller's performance on television at her apartment on the outskirts of London when she suddenly felt her false teeth bending in her mouth.

"At first I was so astonished that I didn't realize what was happening," said Mrs. Marshall. "Then I popped out my uppers and sat there watching them twist in my hand."

Geller, a world renowned psychic who uses mind power to bend spoons and other metal objects, demonstrated his abilities for viewers on a program broadcast by the BBC.

A spokesman for the British television network said that by the time Geller went off the air, the BBC's switchboard was flooded with calls from viewers saying keys and other household objects were bent out of shape. Others said broken clocks and watches began running again during Geller's program.

Mrs. Marshall said she did not report her denture-bending experience immediately because she was afraid no one would believe her.

"After I heard of other people having similar experiences while watching the show I felt sure no one would laugh at me about my false teeth," Mrs. Marshall said.

Poll: Go west for best sex

Although East and West Germany are about to be united, West Germans still enjoy better sex than their friends in the East.

A fascinating new survey published in the German edition of Playboy says East Germans are more sexually frustrated and less imaginative in bed than West Germans.

Does your mate still love you? You can . . .

KISS 'N' TELL!

By PAM VOLZ

Here's a foolproof way to find out if your mate still adores you — ask him or her to give you a smooch.

Kisses tell you how much your partner really cares, and with a little help from experts, you can learn to size up your relationship by the quality of kisses you get.

There's a right way and a wrong way to kiss, experts say, and the National Marriage Guidance Council of Britain has described them at length in its fascinating guide to smooching called Kiss and Tell.

Smooching can provide an accurate barometer to your relationship.

Here's how you can evaluate your romance by his kisses:

● The long, lingering kiss: This signals desire and shows you care very much.

● The peck on the cheek: A light touch on the cheek with hardly any touching shows you don't want to be close to each other and are taking each other for granted.

It's more appropriate for your maiden aunt than the love of your life.

● A nibble on the ear: This is a sexy, intimate way of kissing that's fun and frivolous.

It indicates a sense of play and also strong physical attraction.

● Tender kisses on the finger: This is a very romantic way to show you care. It can be highly erotic and indicates your relationship is close.

● A kiss on the forehead: You're more likely to kiss a child on the forehead than someone you're really in love with.

It's patronizing, not passionate, and points to trouble in your love life.

● A kiss on the nose: This is an affectionate smooch, something couples who are close use to show their love in a fun way.

It won't get you steamed up, but it'll make you feel warm inside and it's a good sign that your love is deep.

"Kissing can be more intimate than sex, and it tells you a lot about how close you are," observed an expert with the National Marriage Guidance Council. "People find it easier to have sex with someone they no longer love than to kiss them."

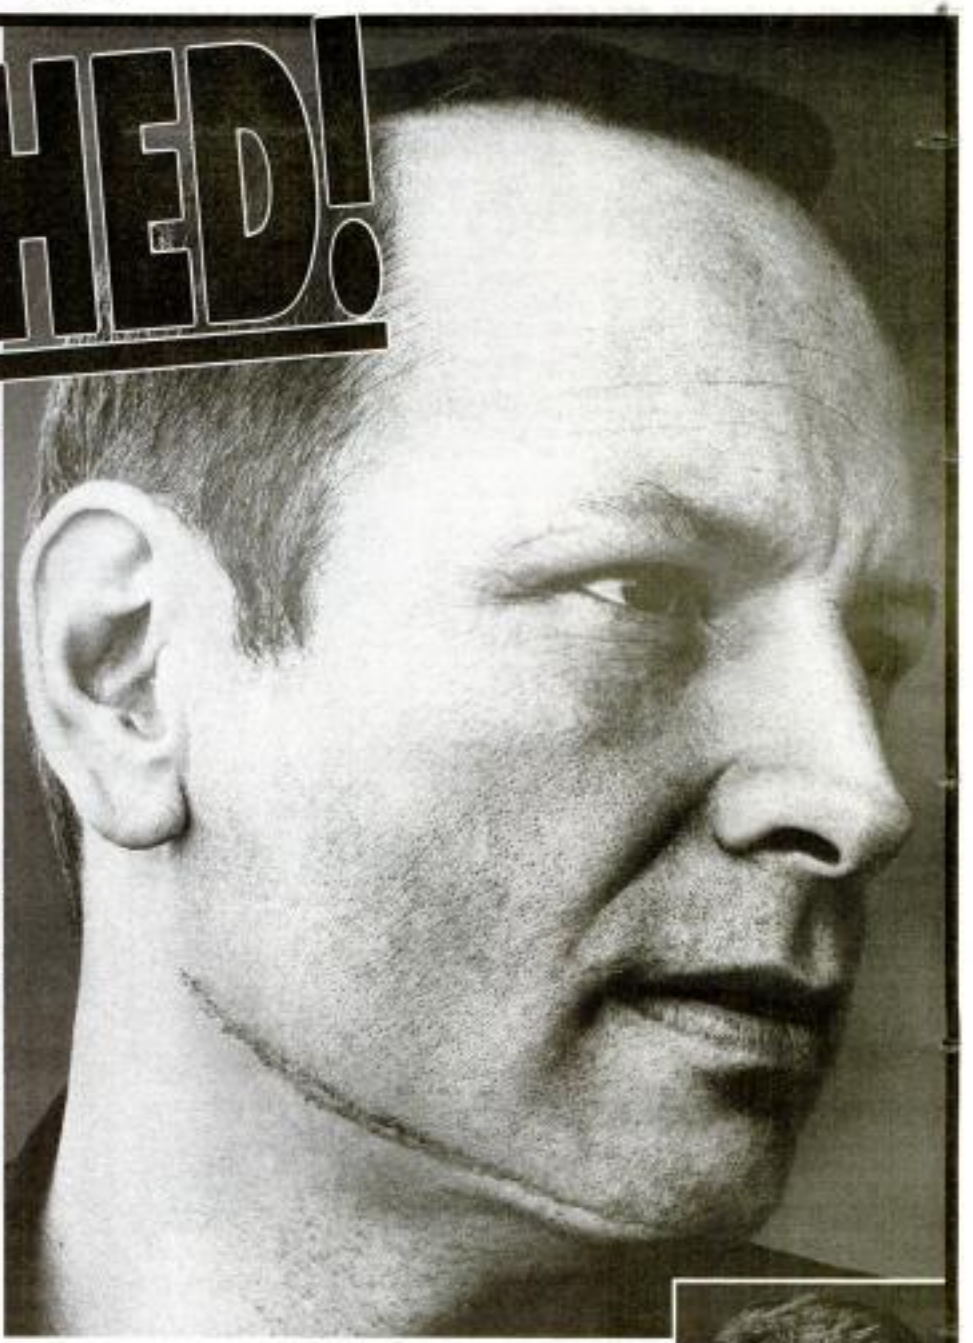
SLASHED!



Razor-wielding punk set free — because he made a deal

By JACK ALEXANDER

Dennis Beale is angry and outraged that a street punk spaced out on drugs and booze slit his throat and won't go to jail — because he made a deal with wimpy prosecutors.

VICTIMS: Dennis Beale, right, and actress Viveca Lindfors, above, will bear the slasher's scars for the rest of their lives.

Burly Peter Bedford attacked Beale, 36, and actress Viveca Lindfors, 70, on a New York City street January 13, slashing Beale's throat and Lindfor's face with a razor blade.

"He can go on with his life and make like nothing happened and I have this nifty little reminder," said Beale, 36, who has a scar from his right ear to his chin.

The gruesome gash took 65 stitches to close. Miss Lindfors needed 27 stitches to close a wound near her left ear. Beale had to find out through the newspapers that the husky teen had made a deal with the Manhattan district attorney's office that will keep him out of the slammer.

As part of the deal, Bedford pleaded guilty to assault and will be sentenced to probation next year if he continues to see a psychiatrist, attends school or works full time and avoids trouble. Prosecutors agreed to the deal because Bedford was only 18, a first-time offender and was drunk at the time of the attack.

Bedford was high on beer and LSD when he went to New York's Greenwich Village with friends the night of the knifing.

Bedford purchased a razor because he was afraid people were out to kill him, said his lawyer, Benjamin Brafman.

He attacked Beale and Miss Lindfors — the first persons he saw — according to Brafman.

Beale said he didn't want to see the kid crucified, but he did want justice.

"I would have risked going to trial just to show this clown what happens when you go around with a razor in Greenwich Village," said Beale.

"Do I feel the system let me down? That's the understatement of the year. Let me down? The system ignored me to death."

Victims left with SCARS instead of JUSTICE

CREEP WALKS FREE: Razor-man Peter Bedford won't spend a single day in jail.

Posh party for pampered pooches features limos, rare wines and fancy-schmancy treats!

FANCY-SCHMANCY Fidos partake of tasty tidbits offered by a maid.

Honored guests arrived in chauffeured limos and other fancy cars for a ritzy catered outdoor birthday bash — for pampered society puppies.

By JACK ALEXANDER

The ultra-exclusive party featured:

- Diamond-studded collars given to the fancy four-legged guests before maids served them.
- Vintage $100 bottles of champagne in lead crystal bowls.
- Cow hide shaped like french fries.
- Chocolate birthday cake shaped like a bone.
- The world's finest and most expensive caviar flown in for the party from France.
- Meatball-shaped appetizers made of beef, lamb, chicken and ham and other delightfully tasty snacks.

"Well, it was just perfectly lovely. I've never been to a party like it before," said Mary Walker, President Bush's aunt, who attended with her dog, Bibi.

Barbara and Steven Frankel tossed the bizarre shindig on the first birthday of their twin dogs, Bonnie and Clyde, Bichon Frise pups. Bichon Frise is an aristocratic breed that resembles the French poodle.

Mrs. Frankel thought it would be a nice gesture for the dogs to have a lawn party in the fenced backyard of her mansion in Greenwich, Conn.

"You can imagine my friends think I'm certifiable, but it makes me happy," she said. "There are so many miserable things in life. Why not enjoy it?"

Five other doggies shared the afternoon culinary delights with Bonnie and Clyde — and all of them were Bichon Frise.

The unique party was catered by a guy who runs a pet health food store in Greenwich.

Mrs. Frankel wouldn't say how much the party cost. "It's not mentionable because I want to stay married," she said.

For the dogs' next birthday, their owners may fly them to Paris.

"It's very chic to bring your dog to a restaurant in Europe," said one guest.

Wedding wipeout

Blushing bride Denise Hudson hopped onto her new hubby's motorcycle while still wearing her wedding dress and was nearly killed when the train of her full-length gown got caught in the bike's rear wheel.

Denise, 28, suffered a broken pelvis, a concussion and numerous cuts and bruises in the bizarre mishap in North Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Paramedics had to cut the cream-colored gown to pieces to free her.

His mom & aunt land in slammer, when . . .

SPOILED BRAT SPARKS ICE CREAM STAND RIOT

. . . say cops

By MICHAEL TODD

A 2-year-old boy who got upset and smacked the owner of an ice cream parlor with his baseball cap set off a ruckus that landed his mom and his aunt in the pokey.

It was a sweltering day in Toronto, Canada, when Pamela Joseph, 25, and her sister Brenda, 22, took their kids for ice cream and that's when the problems began.

Erica Ludwig, owner of the Ontario ice cream store, said the toddler had been swinging from the handrails in the shop and twice she asked him to stop, the second time in a stern voice.

She said the boy hit her with his cap and his mother didn't do anything about it. He hit her again, she said, and the angry clerk ordered them all out of the store.

When they refused to leave without getting their ice cream, she called in an off-duty police officer whom she employs as a security guard and he ordered them out.

When they refused again, he started to handcuff Pamela and that touched off a fracas that brought in a swarm of cops.

"It was hot, the kids were cranky and all we wanted to do was get them some ice cream," said Sharon Natto, who was with the Josephs when the fracas took place.

"Once the cop started wrestling with Pam to handcuff her, we all kept saying we'd go.

"But the cop said it was too late, she was under arrest."

Police say the two women attacked the officer, breaking two of his fingers.

They have charged Pamela Joseph with assault to resist arrest and trespassing.

Brenda Joseph was charged with obstructing a police officer.

For many, financial matters will require close attention — but investing in something new will prove exciting and probably profitable.

Forever young . . .

Man, 114, looks 40!

By LAUREL BOWIE
Correspondent

Amazing Antonio Madeo just celebrated his 114th birthday, but the dynamo oldster looks so boyish he's often mistaken for a man of 40 — and dumbfounded doctors say he has the heart of a teenager!

The go-get-'em gramps can box three rounds or play soccer for hours without breaking a sweat. And he insists he stays so fit and frisky because he downs a pint of whisky and puffs four packs of cigarettes every single day.

'My secret for a long life: Smoke 4 packs of cigarettes & drink a pint of booze a day'

"Anybody can stay young forever if they drink enough and smoke enough," the incredible codger told reporters at his 114th birthday bash.

"The alcohol preserves you and the nicotine keeps your hormones flowing. Anybody who doesn't believe that can go and check with my doctors."

And shocked docs confirm that for some unknown reason, Antonio apparently has not aged a day in the past 70 years.

"Actually, some of the man's organs seem not to have suffered any effects of aging for the past century," said Dr. Dino Lanza. "He has the heart and lungs of a 16-year-old boy.

"The way he smokes and drinks makes that even more baffling from a medical standpoint. We've been trying to get him to quit for years, but he simply refuses to listen.

"We know it isn't the smoking and drinking that keeps him young — but I'll have to admit I'd like to look as good at 50 as he does at 114."

Astonishing Antonio shares an apartment with his great-grandson Bettino near Rome, Italy — and when the peculiar roomies go out on the town together, they are often mistaken for brothers.

"We go out chasing the ladies and Grandpa Antonio does better than I do," said bachelor Bettino, 42.

"And he still knows what to do with them when he catches them." But if you believe the playboy pensioner, he'd have been dead and buried years ago if it weren't for his imported Turkish cigarettes and his fancy American whisky.

"I've been smoking and drinking a pint a day since I was 17 years old and it's worked miracles," said the good-timing gramps. "And of course, having the young girls around now and then — well, that doesn't hurt either."

WHEN astonishing Antonio Madeo, 114, goes out on the town with his great-grandson Bettino, the two men are often mistaken for brothers.

Toad licker nearly dies

By JACK ALEXANDER
Staff writer

One man was hospitalized with a heart seizure and his buddy got sicker than a dog doing something dumb — they licked a toad.

Garry Murphy, 31, and Paul Cherrie, 28, became violently ill and had to be rushed to a hospital. Licking Cane toads, which secrete an LSD-like hallucinogenic substance through their backs, has become a national craze among young people.

The substance secreted by the toads is a drug just like heroin, cocaine and marijuana. "It's a popular way for people to get their kicks," said one doctor.

Cherrie was treated and released from North York General Hospital in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, but Murphy was admitted to intensive care in stable condition.

"The toads aren't on the endangered list, and there's no import ban," said Constable Grant Gillespie. And it isn't illegal to lick them.

Dogs become sick or even die after biting the poisonous toads.

"The funny thing is, the dogs have learned not to touch them," said Dr. Alan Emery of Ottawa's Canadian Museum of Nature.

Cane toads aren't difficult to find in Toronto. They sell for $20 to $50 at pet stores and most of them are shipped in from Florida.

"All toads are toxic, even our local toads," said Dr. Emery.

. . . and his buddy gets sick as a dog!

Family flees knitting ghost!

A terrified mother and her three kids have been driven from their home by a wrinkled old ghost who sits on a bed and knits.

"It was more annoying than scary, but we all began to feel a sort of atmosphere about the house. It was unpleasant," said Sue Jones.

A neighbor in Chaddesden, England, said the ghost was that of an old woman who had fallen down stairs in the house several years ago and died of a broken neck.

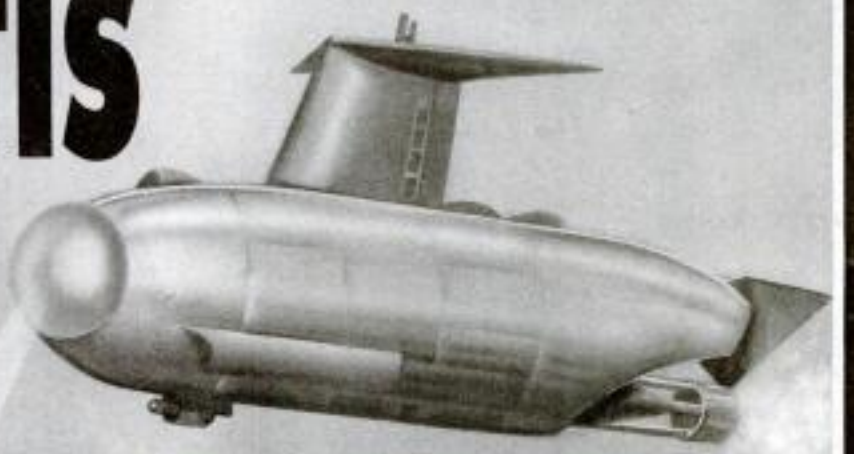
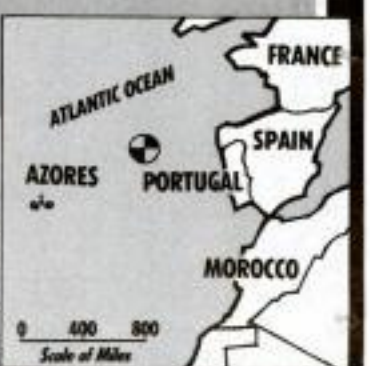
INCREDIBLE PROOF CAPTURED ON VIDEOTAPE!

ATLANTIS FOUND BY JAPANESE SUB!





MARKER shows site of sub's discovery.

By MICHAEL TODD
Special correspondent

A Japanese research submarine filming what is believed to have been the undersea ruins of Atlantis cruised into an eerie field of energy that caused instruments on the craft to run backward and nearly drove its crew insane!

The baffling encounter occurred several hundred miles east of the Azores in the North Atlantic, at exactly the same spot where a Soviet sub reportedly encountered the Lost City in 1986.

Mysterious energy field nearly drives crew insane

Portuguese newspapers reported that the commander of the Japanese minisub did, in fact, request emergency permission to dock at Ponta Delgada in the Azores, and sought immediate psychiatric treatment for several members of his terrified crew.

Documents obtained from Portuguese authorities revealed that the Japanese vessel was incapacitated at a depth of 120 feet for at least 15 minutes. In that time, according to the statements from commander and crew, instruments, including clocks, ran backward and at least a dozen sailors had to be physically restrained when they began to hallucinate about long-dead relatives.

Dr. Tavares Caminho, a research psychologist based near Ponta Delgada, said the effect on the sub and crew combined with the Japanese videotaped footage of the underwater ruins offers the most compelling evidence yet that Atlantis did exist and is present on the floor of the North Atlantic.

"I'm told the videotape is breathtaking and the obvious psychological impact on the submarine crew cannot be denied."

In his statement to Portuguese officials, Commander Mikado Tanaka said the sub's scientific team was filming the ocean floor with a special deep-diving camera when they noticed a string of stone columns and then a massive dome-topped building.

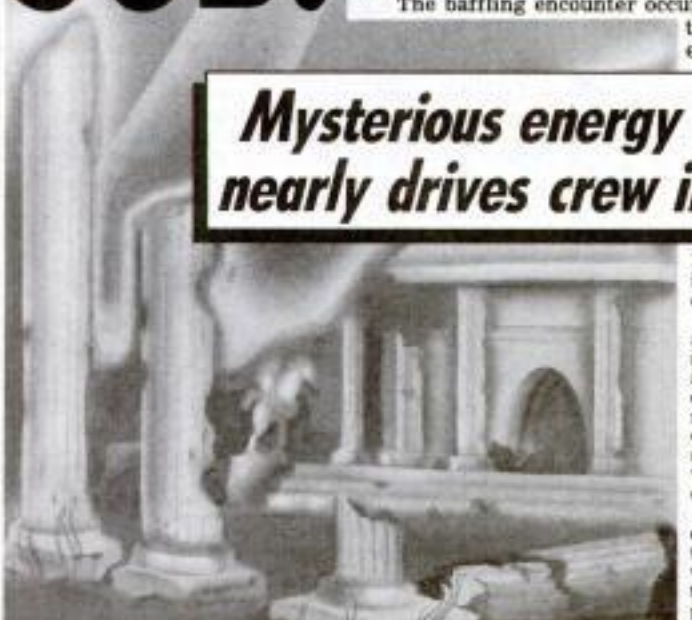
"Our chief scientist whispered, 'Atlantis' — and that's when it happened! Our power flickered. The engines shut down on their own and then the needles on the instruments began to quiver and run backward."

Cmdr. Tanaka said he shouted at his second-in-command for help — but he had left his post. "I found him sitting on the floor, talking and laughing with a brother who wasn't even there," said the commander.

"Others were doing the same, calling out 'mamma' and 'papa' and ignoring their duties."

Cmdr. Tanaka said conditions returned to normal as suddenly as they had gone haywire about 15 minutes later.

Dr. Caminho speculated that the sub and crew had been affected by a mysterious energy field that other explorers have encountered in the area.



ARTIST'S conception shows Japanese research submarine as it videotapes the undersea ruins of Atlantis. Sources say a mysterious energy field caused the minisub's instruments to go haywire, and nearly drove its crew insane.

HAPPY Brad, Gayela and John celebrate at Peter's grave.

DEAD

By LAUREL BOWIE
Special correspondent

Frantic Gayela Bynum and her sons were so broke they didn't know where their next meal was coming from till they won a whopping $3 million jackpot — with a little help from beyond the grave!

The downtrodden Arkansas mom struck it rich by playing her late hubby Peter's favorite lottery numbers — numbers he'd made her promise to play as he lay on his deathbed.

"My dear, sweet Peter played those same numbers for years and never won a thing," ecstatic Gayela recalled.

"But he always said that someday they'd pay off big. And just before he died of cancer last year, he begged me to keep playing his numbers for him, no matter what.

"So we kept buying the tickets, even when we really couldn't afford to — and it turned out to be the luckiest thing we ever did."

The millionaire mom and her teenage sons John and Brad couldn't have made their killing at a more opportune time.

"We were dead broke, living in this little bug-infested apartment — and they were trying to evict us from that," elated Gayela, 39, said from her home outside Little Rock.

"I'd just lost my job at the department store and could not find another one, so we were living off Peter's insurance money. But that was almost gone and it was getting to the point where I was wondering how we were going to eat."

But all that changed the day Peter's numbers hit the jackpot in the Danish lottery. "This is absolutely in-

Anesthesia goof inflates patient like Michelin man!

A bumbling doc hooked his patient up to anesthesia — and blew her up like a real-life Michelin woman, a shocked judge heard.

By SUSAN JIMISON

The poor patient became so super-inflated that her arms and legs swelled and she finally died of heart failure, according to testimony at Crown Court in Leeds, England. The doctor, anesthesiologist Norman Sargent, was found guilty of manslaughter.

"At one stage she resembled the Michelin man from the tire advertisement," said prosecutor Brian Walsh during the court hearing. "Dr. Sargent demonstrated a high degree of negligence."

According to testimony in the headline-making trial, hapless housewife Brenda Jones had checked into a Leeds hospital for minor exploratory surgery.

The patient was wheeled into an operating room and Dr. Sargent prepared to put her under. He hooked her up to an oxygen mask and began pumping oxygen into her body, witnesses said.

As others in the operating room watched in horror, Mrs. Jones began to blow up like a balloon, testimony revealed. Witnesses said Dr. Sargent, 68, was warned repeatedly that his patient was swelling, but he did nothing to stop it. The oxygen pressure mounted within her body until her arms, legs and body inflated with air, they said.

Dr. Sargent was arrested, charged with manslaughter and found guilty. He was given six months' suspended sentence for his bungle.

POOR woman was blown up like this Michelin man.

MAN'S LUCKY NUMBERS WIN THE LOTTERY!

— and make Arkansas family $3 million richer!

credible," gushed Gayela, waving a big fistful of crisp bills.

"I was always trying to get Peter to play the lottery in this country, but he was from Denmark and he felt luckier playing through his relatives over there.

"And I guess he was right. For the first time in our lives, we're living in a real house, with a lawn and a garden and a fence around it. Now the landlord can't touch us.

"The first thing I'm going to do is set up trust funds for the boys so they'll never, ever have to worry about where their next meal is coming from."

And when the moneybags mom and her boys celebrated their sudden turn of luck, they didn't want to leave Peter out of the festivities. So they packed up a picnic lunch and a couple of bottles of champagne — and did their celebrating on his grave.

"We all have the feeling that Dad's been up there watching over us and pulling a few strings," said excited John, 16.

"And since he couldn't come to our party, we took the party to him."

Evil old bag runs $3 billion drug empire from Chinese junk

Madame Chen is a wrinkled, pipe-smoking oldster who lives modestly on the deck of a beat-up old Chinese junk — and runs a $3 billion-a-year drug empire.

By SCOTTY PAUL

The mere mention of her name along the South China Sea brings both fear and respect, for she's a woman of great wealth and power.

"She treats her people well and takes care of their families, but steal a penny from her and she'll have your eyes, your fingernails and then your hands before you die a slow, torturous death," said a Hong Kong narcotics agent.

The 89-year-old evil empress supplies opium, cocaine, heroin and other drugs to the Philippines, Malaysia, Indonesia, New Guinea, Hong Kong and even to the southern Japanese island of Kyushu.

"Her workers are very well paid and fiercely loyal to the old woman," said Hong Kong police narc agent Yao Hsing-Hua. "Only a trusted few know exactly where her Chinese junk is anchored somewhere off the coast from Macao."

A small army of the toughest punks in the Far East have formed an invincible wall of security and secrecy around the old drug queen.

"Two of our agents who got too close were found floating facedown in the West Lamma Channel near Macao," said a spokesman for Interpol.

"Their eyes were gouged out and their hands and feet — as well as other body parts — had been chopped off with a chainsaw. She had to give her permission to do that."

Madame Chen inherited the powerful drug empire from her late husband, Liu, a ruthless but shrewd gangster who solved problems with a bullet.

"His widow is every bit as ruthless, but more sadistic," said agent Yao. "She likes to sit there puffing her pipe and watch her enemies suffer before they die."

The evil empress could live like a queen anywhere in the world, but she has chosen the simple life aboard the primitive Chinese junk. Her diet is mostly rice because she has no teeth.

"As far as we know, she has not stepped off the junk since her husband died of a heart attack 15 years ago," said the Interpol agent.

"Her top lieutenants report to her every day. She calls every shot and anyone who questions that doesn't live long."

Her 22-year-old grandson paid with his head for crossing the old lady two years ago. His money in Swiss banks every week.

"But the boy got greedy and opened up a separate account for himself," said agent Yao. "She found out and had one of her henchmen lop off his head."

Interpol and drug agents along the South China Sea have been trying for years to crush Madame Chen's empire. But she's always one step ahead of them.

YOU CAN MAKE UP TO

$9,800 in 24 Hours!

Dear Friend,

I made $9,800 in 24 hours. You may do better!

My name is John Wright. Not too long ago I was flat broke. I was $31,000 in debt. The bank repossessed my car because I couldn't keep up with the payments. And one day the landlord gave me an eviction notice because I hadn't paid the rent for three months. So we had to move out. My family and I stayed at my cousin's place for the rest of that month before I could manage to get another apartment. That was very embarrassing.

Things have changed now. I own four homes in Southern California. The one I'm living in now in Beverly Hills is worth more than one million dollars. I own several cars, among them a brand new Mercedes and a brand new Cadillac. Right now, I have a million dollar line of credit with the banks and have certificates of deposit at $100,000 each at the very bank in Beverly Hills.

Best of all, I have time to have fun. To be me. To do what I want. I work about 4 hours a day, the rest of the day, I do things that please me. Some days I go swimming and sailing — shopping. Other days, I play racquetball or tennis. Sometimes, frankly, I just lie out under the sun with a good book. I love to take long vacations. I just got back from a two week vacation from — Maui, Hawaii.

I'm not really trying to impress you with my wealth. All I'm trying to do here is to prove to you that if it wasn't because of that money secret I was lucky enough to find that day, I still would have been poor or maybe even bankrupt. It was only through this amazing money secret that I could pull myself out of debt and become wealthy. Who knows what would have happened to my family and me.

Knowing about this secret changed my life completely. It brought me wealth, happiness, and most important of all — peace of mind. This secret will change your life, too! It will give you everything you need and will solve all your money problems. Of course you don't have to take my word for it. You can try it for yourself. To see that you try this secret, I'm willing to give you $20.00 in cash. (I'm giving my address at the bottom of this page.) I figure, if I spend $20.00, I get your attention. And you will prove it to yourself this amazing money secret will work for you, too!

Why, you may ask, am I willing to share this secret with you? To make money? Hardly. First, I already have all the money and possessions I'll ever need. Second, my secret does not involve any sort of competition whatsoever. Third, nothing is more satisfying to me than sharing my secret only with those who realize a golden opportunity and get on it quickly.

This secret is incredibly simple. Anyone can use it. You can get started with practically no money at all and the risk is almost zero. You don't need special training or even a high school education. It doesn't matter how young or old you are and it will work for you at home or even while you are on vacation.

Let me tell you more about this fascinating money making secret:

With this secret the money can roll in fast. In some cases you may be able to cash in literally overnight. If you can follow simple instructions you can get started in a single afternoon and it is possible to have spendable money in your hands the very next morning. In fact, this just might be the fastest legal way to make money that has ever been invented!

This is a very safe way to get extra cash. It is practically risk free. It is not a dangerous gamble. Everything you do has already been tested and you can get started for less money than most people spend for a night on the town.

One of the nicest things about this whole idea is that you can do it at home in your spare time. You don't need equipment or an office. It doesn't matter where you live either. You can use this secret to make money if you live in a big city or on a farm or anywhere in between. A husband and wife team from New York used my secret, worked at home in their spare time, and made $45,000 in one year.

This secret is simple. It would be hard to make a mistake if you tried. You don't need a college degree or even a high school education. All you need is a little common sense and the ability to follow simple, easy, step-by-step instructions. I personally know a man from New England who used this secret and made $2 million in just 3 years.

You can use this secret to make money no matter how old or how young you may be. There is no physical labor involved and everything is so easy it can be done whether you're a teenager or 90 years old. I know one woman who is over 65 and is making all the money she needs with this secret.

When you use this secret to make money you never have to try to convince anybody of anything. This has nothing to do with door-to-door selling, telephone solicitation, real estate or anything else that involves personal contact.

Everything about this idea is perfectly legal and honest. You will be proud of what you are doing and you will be providing a very valuable service.

It will only take you two hours to learn how to use this secret. After that everything is almost automatic. After you get started you can probably do everything that is necessary in three hours per week.

PROOF

I know you are skeptical. That simply shows your good business sense. Well, here is proof from people who have put this amazing secret into use and have gotten all the money they ever desired. Their initials have been used in order to protect their privacy, but I have full information and the actual proof of their success in my files.
